LOWELL COTTON RECEIPTS LAST MONTH SHOWED GREAT GAIN OVER SEPTEMBER TOTALS

Gains Shown in Shipments to All Cotton Textile Centers of New England—Figures Reflect Inadequate Supply of Cotton—High Price Regarded as Near Prohibitive

October cotton receipts by railroad in Lowell for the month just ended showed a considerable gain over September. During October 19,458 bales were received here as against 5,861 for the month previous. By these figures is reflected the final breaking of the long non-buying attitude of the local mills. With stocks depleted, almost all many mills have been obliged to take raw cotton in order to complete orders on which they are now running. In the face of what looks like a certainty of 85-cent cotton the mills have held off buying.

BIG DROP IN NUMBER OF VOTERS ELIGIBLE TO VOTE AT THE CITY PRIMARY

Lowell's Total Registration Today is 2596 Less Than Last Year—Each of the City's Nine Wards Shows Shrinkage in Enrollment

There are 2596 less men and women eligible to cast votes at the city primary next Tuesday than at this time one year ago. The city's total registration today is 30,819 against 33,415 last year. Each ward shows a shrinkage in its enrollment, caused by a number of conditions and for several reasons, the board of election commissioners say.

This is a so-called "off" year in politics locally, as well as in the state and nation and experience has shown that registration totals fall away under such conditions. Also, the local shrinkage is due in some part to the withdrawal from the city of the Lamson Co. and many of its employees and to certain labor conditions at mills and shops which have caused others to move out of town. The commissioners say the falling-off is only natural and occurs periodically. They expect a record registration next year when major elections will be held in Lowell and in the state and nation.

ST. COLUMBA'S CHURCH

Smoke Talk Under Auspices
of Holy Name Society, Big Success

A very successful smoke talk was held last night in the parish hall of St. Columba's by the Holy Name society of that church. Among the speakers were Rev. Fr. Waters of St. John's church, Roxbury; "Bob" Hart, big league umpire; and Rev. John J. Powers, pastor of the church. Songs and piano numbers were given by the best local talent available.

The meeting was called to order by Warren Blodan, president of the society, and a piano solo given by John Poole. A recitation by John Payne followed and then Rev. Fr. Waters was introduced.

Fr. Waters told several stories that got the crowd in good humor and then branched into his main topic, "The Papacy of Rome is the Tribunal of International Arbitration." "Next Sunday," he said, "we celebrate Armistice day. Five years ago word was flashed across the ocean that the war was over, that an armistice had been declared and to all lips arose a fervent 'Thank God.' In that day of peace we hardly knew what the war had cost the world. Soon we were to learn though. When the ships came in and the regiments started to disembark they were cheered through tears of joy and then came a hush—out of the ships came the disabled and the baskets containing the dead—even those who rejoiced over the safe return of loved ones were hushed and then arose this prayer, 'Dear God, let us have peace forever.' This was the feeling that followed the delegates to Versailles when the treaty was drawn up and this was the prayer that brought about the conference in Washington between the major nations for disarmament and this prayer will echo and re-echo until

LONG-LIVE THE QUEEN!

Before her rich and poor alike bowed low in homage. Made-line England ruled the realm—for a few days at least. She was queen of the full festival in Kenosha, Wis. She was crowned after a spirited contest with more than 50 other pretty girls.

War and its horrors are ended forever. The world wants an end to war and wants a tribunal to arbitrate international differences so that war will no longer be necessary.

"As the tribunal to arbitrate for peace I offer the papacy of the church of Rome, fitted for this position as no nation is fitted and bearing an influence all over the world which no nation can equal. The papacy has endured through the centuries and it seems that the best hopes of revolution that have broken nations and have tried to end the papacy have only strengthened it. The enemies of papacy vanish but papacy remains. It has seen the birth of all nations now existing and will most probably chart their future."

Fr. Waters then told of the work of the papacy as a tribunal of peace in the centuries of the past and related historical facts which proved his statements. He told of the rule of might in the early centuries that was not dispelled until the papacy entered the lists and then told of the rule of right, justice tempered with charity that sprang up under the influence of the church of Rome. Through all the centuries right up to the time within the memory of most of us the papacy has settled international disputes and loomed out the difficulties of nations without allowing them recourse to the scourge of war.

"History," he said, "records no nobler picture than of the popes of medieval times who went out with upraised hand and brought peace to the world. I contend that the papacy has proven in the past its power as a tribunal of arbitration and by reason of its history and tradition she is the rightful tribunal of our day. Has the power of papacy gone? No! What is necessary for a tribunal of international justice? These are necessary: impartiality, usefulness and justice. The pope must be impartial for his children are under every flag and in every land. He must be useful for nothing can accrue to him in temporal power. In the many years that the papacy sat as a tribunal of justice it never added once inch of territory to its domains and the same will be the rule today. Who is better equipped to deal out justice than the leader of that church that is built on a foundation of justice and charity? I maintain that, because of these reasons, the papacy of the church of Rome is the only logical tribunal for the settlement of international differences by arbitration."

Fr. Waters was cheered to an echo at the end of his talk and a rising vote of thanks was extended him by those present. Songs by James King and Thomas Tobin followed and then "Bob" Hart was introduced.

"Bob" Hart introduced "Bob" told in his own inimitable way the story of the last World Series and of baseball players and their actions from the standpoint of the stolid blue-clad gentlemen who are the butt for caustic criticism from all sides—the umpires. For half an hour he kept the audience in a gale of laughter with his stories and he also, at the conclusion of his talk was given a rising vote of thanks. He presented to Fr. Waters at the close of his talk two baseballs to be auctioned off at the next reunion, one signed by "Babe" Ruth and the other signed by the four umpires who ruled at the recent world series.

A talk by Rev. Fr. Powers on the coming church reunion brought the most successful meeting of the Holy Name society of St. Columba's parish to a close.

LOWELL MAN SPEAKER
AT FARE HEARING

Secretary-Manager George F. Wells of the Lowell chamber of commerce, one of several leading representatives of large commercial organizations of similar makeup, was a speaker in opposition to the petition of the Boston & Maine railroad for an increase of 20 per cent in commutation and 12-ride trip tickets, at the rate hearing held Tuesday before the state department of public utilities. Mr. Wells spoke as representative of a large number of Lowell commuters. In his plea that the petition be refused, he announced that the Lowell chamber of commerce desired to be recorded as opposing in behalf of nearly 500 commuters between Lowell and Boston, who were emphatically opposed to any such proposed increase in railroad fares. The distance from Lowell to Boston is 25.6 miles. The present rate for 60-trip commutation tickets is $12.68. If the proposed increase of 20 per cent is granted, the same 60-trip ticket will cost $15.22, an increase of $2.54 a year. The proposed twenty per cent advance in prices would make the cost of a 60-trip commutation ticket from 15 to 52 per cent higher than the rates charged on at least 12 large eastern railroads and for distances somewhat longer than from Lowell to Boston.

Mr. Wells quoted in detail the rates now existing on such rail lines as the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the West Shore, Erie, Long Island railroad, New Jersey Central and Lehigh. The secretary-manager declared that while it may be true that the Boston & Maine has failed to show a profit on its rail operations, the Lowell chamber of commerce body fails to see why the fact should justify an increase of 20 per cent in commutation rates from 15 to 52 per cent higher than the rates charged on practically all large railroads of the east.

The opposition to the petition will be continued at a hearing to be held Nov. 14. There was a special meeting of the opposition, however, this afternoon in the hearing room of the department of public utilities, and City Solicitor Patrick J. Reynolds of Lowell attended.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating the mucous action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. P. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowels and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c. Adv.

The best cough medicine you ever used. A quick supply easily and quickly made. Saves about 25¢.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Unusually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good. Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly breaks the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything less. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. BOSTON & MAINE BADLY IN NEED OF SLEEPERS

Hurry calls for railroad cross-ties have been sent out to the farmers of Middlesex county who own woodlots and have timber to sell.

The Boston & Maine purchasing department issues the call and secures of wood-choppers in forests all along the railroad lines between Lowell and Framingham and points east, west and north on the main division, are piling up thousands of white oak and chestnut and some red oak "sleepers" to be used for strengthening many miles of B. & M. rail lines this fall and early next spring.

The prices for cross-ties, super-ing last year's lower prices, have just been announced by Purchasing Agent Atwood. For grade 2 white oak or chestnut ties, 8 feet and 6 inches long, the price per "sleeper" will be $1.30. The grade 4's bring $1.45 apiece and the grade 5's, $1.60. The eight-foot cross-ties bring $1.15, $1.30 and $1.45. Red oaks, 8 feet long, bring seventy cents for grade 1, eighty-five cents for grade 2, $1.00 for grade 3 and $1.45 for grade 5.

All ties purchased from the wood-choppers have to be placed along the rights of way, hauled to loading and inspection. The ties must be cut square at the ends, with top and bottom parallel, have bark removed and be "well-manufactured" and perfectly straight. All "shakes," "splints," decayed timbers with holes and knots are barred.

Hundred of cords of new sleepers are now located near the rights of way below Carls on the New Haven road. Many of these are chestnut—now a rare wood in many sections of the county. Fifteen truck loads of good chestnut ties have come in from Leppert, destined for improving roadbeds of the B. & M. in New Hampshire next spring.

FOODS THAT MAKE BLOOD

(Proteins)

The majority of people do not choose their daily food, to any extent, for its protein or health value. Habit and custom seem to govern in this matter of choosing food, far more than any physiological reasons.

They eat what they like best or what tastes good and seems to fill the bill or the stomach. No one thing is more common, however, than over-eating and frequently of the wrong kind of food.

The proteins furnish the chief tissue building element—nitrogen. These building, furnished by the normal blood stream, for the growth, repair and upkeep of your body comes chiefly from the protein group. It is the most valuable of the great food groups.

While practically all foods contain some protein, a few that are commonly used do not. Butter, cream and oil, which are composed chiefly of fat and water, and sugar, sirups and starch are non-proteins.

The two most important proteins are

Great for Rheumatic Pains and Swellings

the white of eggs and lean meat. Veal, mutton, pork and ham are rich in proteins. Omelet combining ham and eggs is a most nourishing protein food. Beef soup or consommé are good for your protein portion, in liquid refreshments.

Among the vegetables the most valuable in protein are tomatoes, asparagus, canned peas, radishes and spinach. Celery and cauliflower should be freely eaten for their protein, blood building value.

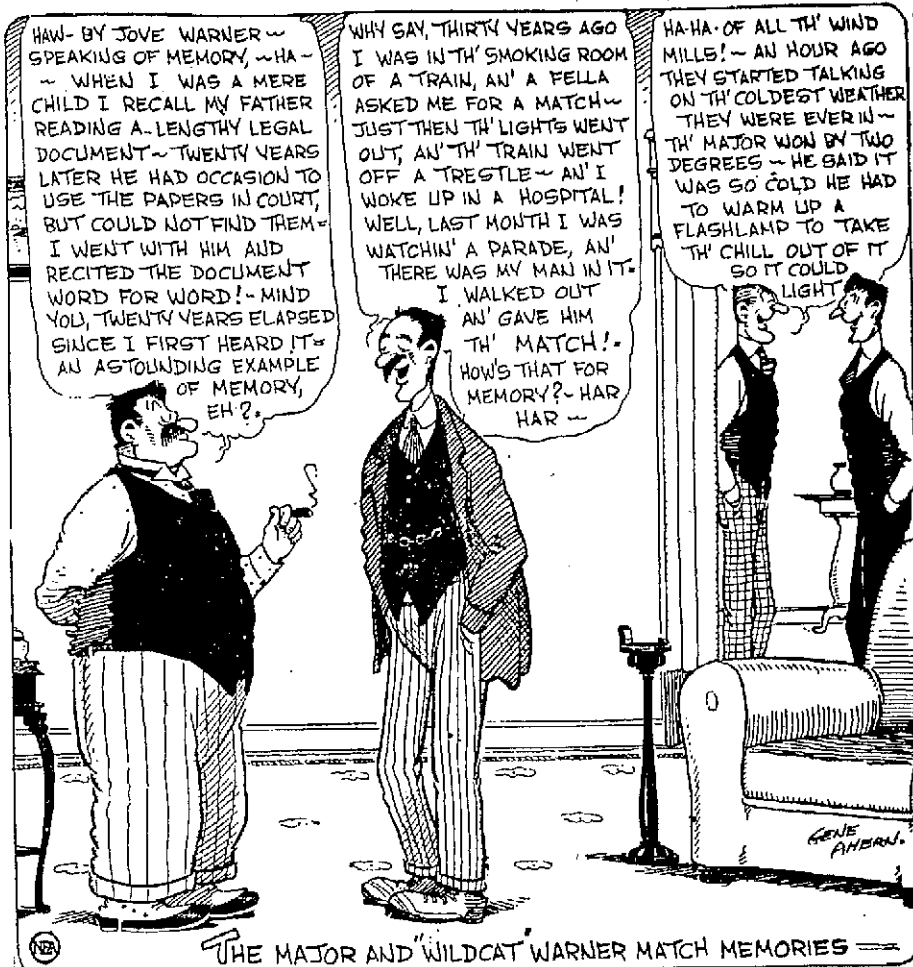

Oatmeal has just an average value. Mixed with milk or cream, it is a valuable blood food, although rich in fats and carbohydrates as well as protein.

Among the fruits and berries, oranges, lemons and apples, while not distinctive proteins, contain enough to be of real value in this group. Strawberries, raspberries and blackberries lead the berries in protein.

Bear in mind that your protein foods are most essential. Also that too much is better than too little. The body will waste away and die if denied its proper supply of protein.

Scientific Starch Discovery Banishes Ironing Troubles

EVERY woman knows that one of the greatest annoyances is working with starch that forms a thick, sticky jelly the moment it is cool. This heavy, pasty starch clots and smears your fabrics, and often causes your iron to stick.

All this trouble has now been overcome with Linit, the new scientific starch.

New Starch Discovery

THIS remarkable starch is made by an improved process that keeps it fluid after it cools. You are never troubled with clotting, smearing or "blistering." Linit penetrates every thread of the fabric, helps prevent wear, and strengthens the material.

Linit gives ordinary cotton goods an attractive linen finish and your Linit-starched garments remain clean and fresh much longer.

Important to you

AFTER Linit is thoroughly dissolved according to directions, and ready for use, you will notice it is THIN and FREE-RUNNING LIKE WATER—with a "milky" appearance. Be sure to use Linit according to directions, and, unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is one reason why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches and is easier to iron with.

Linit costs 10c at all grocers

Get a package and begin the modern way of starching your fabrics. Perfection in starching guaranteed or your money refunded.

Linit is made by the Corn Products Refining Company—makers of the famous Argo Starch—Karo Syrup and Mazola Salad and Cooking Oil.

Glenwood

Makes Cooking Easy

"I never knew I was such a good cook"

AND I'll have to give most of the credit to our new Glenwood range, it certainly has made a difference in my cooking. I'm spending less time in the kitchen, too.

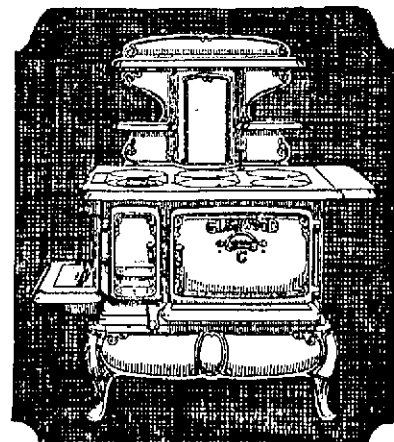

"It's a relief to have a range that doesn't need to be coaxed to cook."

A Glenwood comes as near to making cooking a pleasure as any range can. It does make cooking easy, which is really more important.

The Model "C" Glenwood is illustrated here.

Its big square oven bakes food exactly right—top, bottom and clear through. The balanced baking damper and the Glenwood Patent Indicator take care of that—you can't make a mistake.

Like every Glenwood, the Model "C" is built for a lifetime of service. It will give you a new idea of how easy it is to be a good cook.

FRIENDS NOTICED IMPROVEMENT

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Beloit, Wis.—"My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief, and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it did not help me as much as it should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 93 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. W. G. MONSON, 1515 Park Ave., Beloit, Wis.

Mrs. Monson is willing to write to any woman suffering from such troubles.

LIQUOR OFFICERS MAKE BIG SEIZURES

A 36-gallon still, 22 gallons of moonshine and six barrels of mash were discovered in a Grand street tenement by Sergt. Winn, Officers Killoy, Bagley, Molony, Leahy, Cooney and Moore, last night. Officer Cooney made a purchase on the premises previously to the seizure, the transaction being performed by the wife of the alleged owner.

A six-stall garage at Ames and Central streets was also visited by the liquor officers last night, and several cases of wet goods were taken from a truck. The liquor, according to the officers, is valued at $700. The owner of the truck will be summoned into court for an explanation.

A Corbett street tenement was raided yesterday afternoon by Sergt. Winn and Officers Leahy, Molony, Bagley and Killoy of the liquor squad with the result that a 15-gallon still was seized. No arrests were made.

A Reminder You Can't Forget

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—You can't forget America's disabled warriors. Thousands of pretty girls throughout the country are going to remind you, gently but forcibly, on Saturday, Nov. 10, that it's the "boys' day."

In every city, where there's a post of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, comely maidens, armed with bunches of "forget-me-nots," will be waiting for their victims.

And, of course, you can't turn them down.

Emily Wilkens, in the accompanying picture, is one of the young ladies "tagging" in Cincinnati, where the organization's national headquarters are located.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Interesting Lecture by Representative of State Department of Education

About 250 students of the State Normal school attended the third lecture in a series on "Professional Opportunities for Teachers," which was given by Frank W. Wright of the state department of education in the assembly hall of the school yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Wright took as his topic "Opportunities and Ideals in the Training Offered by the Massachusetts Normal Schools." Mr. Wright spoke of teaching as a profession. He enumerated the three great professions in the world today, namely, the ministry, perhaps the oldest profession in the world; the legal, and the medical, stating that by many, teaching was regarded as the fourth great profession now existing.

Referring to a talk given by Professor Angell of Yale in which the latter stated that a profession was that calling in which the majority of the service was given to the community, the teacher gives service to the community and in such is serving a profession," stated Mr. Wright. "I can see no service in teaching but what is public service, and in your work of teaching you are doing a great service to the community."

Mr. Wright then emphasized the fact that the training given in Normal schools was for the benefit of the children who were to be taught by the teachers trained in the schools. "If you do not intend to teach, do not come to this school, as the state is not spending money to give girls education, but to make them good teachers for the benefit of the children."

"One of the greatest ideals in teaching is to be loyal to the children," continued Mr. Wright. "Teachers should be loyal to one another and less critical. Criticism, especially unjust criticism, is to be avoided. Be loyal to those who teach with you and above all, be loyal to your pupils. Also in class be less ready to be sarcastic with the pupils; be kind in your treatment and speech and first of all, consider all that will tend to the good of the child."

Mr. Wright also touched upon the fact that the pupils of the Lowell State Normal school were not the only ones, the only unit in the large field of normal schools. He urged the pupils that because they had but two year courses not to believe they did not receive as complete a training as those who had four. "You, in that time, are getting all the training requisite at the present time," he continued. "Later it may be necessary for the state to establish four-year courses in all normal schools, but as it is now, should any student desire, she may enter the normal schools with four-year courses as a third-year student on a diploma from the Lowell State Normal school."

In closing, Mr. Wright told a story of Col. Parker, a principal in Quincy. "It was at a time when much dissatisfaction prevailed and the principal called a teachers' meeting. When they had assembled, Col. Parker called a little child of six years and placing her in a chair and his hand on her head, said: 'Teachers, this is my speech; the meeting is adjourned.' 'Remember, it is for the child that you are being trained and that you must always consider what tends to the good, the welfare and the proper education of children.'"

APPOINTMENT OF FOREST WARDENS BY STATE

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Appointment of all forest wardens by the state authorities. Instead of continuing it in the hands of local authorities in each city and town, is to be recommended to the incoming legislature by the state department of conservation, of which William A. J. Hazeley of Uxbridge is commissioner.

This is one of two important changes the department will seek in the interest to promote efficiency in forest fire fighting. The other is that towns shall be relieved of the cost of fighting forest fires within their borders, it being transferred to the county and state on an equal basis.

Both of these ideas have been tried out in the neighboring state of Connecticut, with results which have been entirely satisfactory to the officials there, it is said.

At present the forest warden in each town is designated by the board of selectmen. Their appointment is subject to approval of the state forester, and while this power of approval permits the state authority to bar grossly unfit men, still it gives him little or no control over the local warden after his appointment has been approved. If the appointment were made solely by the state forester, it is contended that better instruction in forest fire fighting could be given, and it would be possible to utilize local wardens in towns adjoining their own.

In respect to the other proposed change, it is pointed out that under the present system each town is re-

BLOOD BUILDER GIVES STRENGTH

Two Remarkable Cases in One
Portland Family Where This Tonic Restored Health

Unless the blood can carry nourishment to every tissue of the body the patient will be undernourished however much food is taken. The blood is the great carrier of nourishment and when, through weakness, it falls in this function there is bound to be malnutrition with resultant weakness and ill health.

"I suffered for a year from debility following childbirth," says Mrs. Joseph Laveque of No. 161 Forest ave., Portland, Me., "and I thought I would never get well again. I took treatment, of course, but nothing seemed to help me. The weakness in my limbs was the worst. I could not walk any distance and if I sat down I did not have strength to get up again. What I ate gave me no strength and I just kept getting weaker. If I tried to move around I would be out of breath and my heart palpitated. I had no appetite and suffered from nervous spells and headaches."

"Through reading about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was led to try them and they brought back my strength. After the second box I could get up and around. I gained steadily and soon I could eat heartily and enjoy it. I took four boxes in all. I am strong now, can do my housework and do not get tired out. My nerves are stronger and I seldom have a headache."

"My daughter had no color at all and was run down. She used the pills also and has a good color now and feels strong and well. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are our family medicine."

A valuable booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free upon request. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—Adv.

quired to pay practically all of the cost of fighting forest fires within its own borders, although some of the smaller towns receive slight financial assistance from the state. It is a system which at times causes heavy financial burdens upon the towns, there being on record cases in which the community has been three years in paying off a forest fire debt.

Another difficulty encountered in many of the small towns has been that of obtaining an adequate force of fire fighters. Frequently this is due to the fact that lack of funds has caused delay in compensating men for work at fires, and after waiting months for their pay, men are likely to be diffident about repeating the experience. With bills paid from the state and county treasuries, obligations would be met promptly. It is also believed that the aggregate cost of forest fires would be reduced, through increased efficiency and more up-to-date methods of fire fighting.

During the past twelve years, the average cost of fire fighting has been approximately $20,000 per year, practically all of which has been paid by the towns. The state is entirely willing to assume half this burden, if the counties will take up the other half. In 1922 the total loss from forest fires was in the vicinity of $500,000; this year it has been somewhat less. The state authorities are anxious that the figure shall never again reach that of 1922, and they have an additional incentive in the fact that the forest area in the state is being increased each year. Already about 50,000 acres have been reforested, at an expense of millions of dollars.

"Child Genius" Takes to Easel And Oils When He Isn't Caddying

JOHN WIKTOR

BY GEORGE PRITT,
N.E.A. Service Writer
CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—What can a golf caddy do between games except shoot crabs?

Well, John Wiktor paints pictures.

John was painting one dull day two years ago on the flat roof of a building of the South Shore Country club here, where he caddies and where his father has a job. As he climbed down from the roof a club member saw him and questioned him. John then was 10 years old.

Youthful Genius

"I'm an artist," he explained, his gray eyes looking over the member's head. "The lake is beautiful from my there, with sail boats going out and the sun shining on the blue. My father said it was all right to go up and paint."

So it happened that the member became interested and told Carl N. Wertz, director of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Director Wertz asked John to come down to art classes without paying any tuition, and the boy has been a student there ever since. The expense of his drawing materials he earns on the golf course.

"This is the most promising child genius we ever had," is the way the director describes him.

"He is just a little boy painter, of course. It would be distressing if he could paint like Whistler now. But his work shows the mark of the gods."

LOWELL TUBERCULOSIS COUNCIL.

The regular meeting of the Lowell Tuberculosis council was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Lowell Social Service league. Representatives from the surrounding towns of Billerica, Chelmsford, Dracut and Tewksbury were present, and the meeting concerned itself with discussion of advisability of pooling their interests in one large council for unified action in this territory. No decision was reached.

upon him, and he has the initiative and interest and the love of painting which are necessary to develop his talent."

Painting His Play

"Would you rather paint than play ball?" a visitor asks John. "Or than go swimming at the beach, or—"

"Or anything else," the boy completes the question. "Sure I would."

John is an only child, and his imagination has been nourished upon an endless succession of romantic folk tales which his mother brought from her native Bohemia.

"My mother knows a thousand stories," he says. But his interest in painting was first stirred by an aunt who lived with them.

Works With Oils

"She would have been an artist if she could have taken lessons when she was young," says the boy. "She used to draw for me, and then I began making pictures myself."

"I took lessons for a time from an artist on the South side. He charged 25 cents for an afternoon. I made that money by running errands. That was four or five years ago."

John's pictures are those of a boy, as his instructor says, but already he is working in oils, the most advanced medium.

And if you are doubtful, just compare his work with that of a student twice his age at the next easel.

MASTERS' CLUB MEETS AT HIGH SCHOOL

A supper and entertainment held by the Masters' club of Lowell in the Cafeteria of the high school last evening was attended by approximately 75 men teachers of the local public schools, the Textile school, and the State Normal school.

At the conclusion of the supper a delightful program of addresses and entertainment followed. The speakers were introduced by William V. Denner, president of the club, who acted in the capacity of toastmaster. The opening address was by Mayor John J. Donagan, followed by Superintendent of Schools Hugh J. Molloy, and President Charles H. Barnes of the Lowell Textile school.

The principal speaker of the evening was Frank W. Wright, deputy commissioner of education, who spoke at length on the various matters of concern to men teachers. Other features of the evening were the Mandolin club of the high school, which played while the supper was in progress, under the direction of W. T. Hovey, and the singing of James E. Donnelly, with Mrs. Alice McLaughlin accompanying.

The meal was served by high school girls and prepared under the supervision of Miss Susie G. Driscoll, who received many compliments on the excellent of the menu.

CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

A small variety of cases were on the district court blotter this morning. Seamus Thomas pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle without a rear light burning, but the case was placed on file for lack of prosecution.

A charge for the larceny of a sewing machine brought Arthur Demers to the stand. The larceny was committed over a year ago, and on a guilty finding, Demers was fined $15. He failed to pay and was at large until last night. The case was continued one week.

A drunkenness charge against William Baranski resulted in a suspended sentence of four months in the house of correction.

Anthony Medina, for a statutory offense, was continued until Dec. 4.

Paul Baranow, for illegal keeping, and Sarah Chofes, for illegal sale, were continued to Nov. 15 and 17, respectively.

Mighty Healing Power of Peterson's Ointment

For Eczema, Ulcers, Old Sores and Piles

"I wish I could publish all the grateful letters I get every week," says Peterson. "I don't believe anyone on this earth has such a happy time at work as I have. All I do is make Peterson's Ointment and read letters like these that come right from the heart."

"I had an ulcer on my ankle—it had 30 years and could not get it healed. For the last six years I had several doctors. I got one box of your ointment and it almost healed it and it was entirely healed by the second box. I don't think there is a better remedy on earth." Mrs. J. C. Henderson, 520 Sprague street, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Peterson's Ointment is just as good for piles as it is for old sores. It stops itching of eczema almost instantly. There isn't anything in the way of pimples or face blemishes that it won't chase away, and for sore feet, chafing, sunburn, rashes, cuts and bruises there is nothing so sure or speedy. 35 cents a box at any drug store.—Adv.

SUES WITH DOUG

Evelyn Brent, former leading lady for Douglas Fairbanks, has joined Doug and his wife, Mary Pickford, in the libel suit against an eastern magazine. The publication, their petition contends, asserted Miss Brent had caused a rift in the Fairbanks' marital life. This, all three deny. And what's more, they allege the magazine said Miss Brent was fired by "Doug" because she was "growing fat."

NAMELESS WOMAN OF NARROW ESCAPE FROM JAPAN SENDS THANKS SERIOUS INJURY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—A nameless woman of Japan has thanked "My dear, the people of America," in a letter received today by Secretary Hughes, for the relief work administered by Americans in Japan during the period of suffering and hunger which followed the recent fire and earthquake disaster in Tokio and Yokohama.

"How we all Japanese thank you for your great kindness in this time," the letter said. "You gave us all. You sent us much necessary things and you are very kind to us. Our thanks are beyond measure. We all will never forget that hereafter. I am only a nameless woman. But I must write you this, even with such a broken word, as I could not keep secret my thanks. Please excuse my impolite."

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Tonic and Blood Enricher

When your food is digested it is absorbed from the intestines into the blood. When the carbon in your food comes in contact with the oxygen carried by the iron in your blood, the carbon and oxygen unite and by so doing they give off tremendous energy, thereby giving you great force, strength and endurance. Without iron your blood carries no oxygen and without oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in your food, so that what you eat does you no good—you do not get any strength from it. It is like putting coal into a stove without a fire. You cannot get any heat unless the coal unites with the fire.

The strongest weapon with which to prevent and overcome colds, pneumonia, kidney trouble, rheumatism, nervous prostration, in fact almost any disease or disease germ is plenty of good rich, pure blood, strength, energy and endurance, and the greatest energy carrier in the body is organic iron, not metallic iron, which poisons usually take, but organic iron like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, and like the iron contained in what is known as organic Nuxated Iron, which may be had from almost any druggist. Nuxated Iron often increases the strength, energy and endurance of weak, nervous, rundown folks in two weeks' time.

It has been used and highly recommended by former United States Senators, Members of Congress, Judges of U. S. Courts, many physicians and prominent men.

Over 4,000,000 people are now using it annually. Satisfactory results are guaranteed or the manufacturers will refund your money. Sold by all druggists in tablet form only. Adv.

THE MUSCLES MUST BE DEVELOPED UNIFORMLY

BY NIELS BUKH
You can't make a strong body waving a fan.

The trouble with most of us is that we are strong in spots. We tend to develop only those muscles that we use in our daily occupations. The blacksmith has a powerful forearm. The steevedore a strong back, and so on.

The chief points of weakness are the abdomen, the fore-side of the biceps and the calf. And until these defects are corrected, the perfect body is an impossibility.

With a uniformly strong body, specialization may then be attempted with greater success.

Two people are necessary, or it may be performed alone by hooking the toes under some solid support such as an attached ladder.

When two people are doing it, the toes are hooked under the rungs of the other person's leg. One lies flat on the back, arms extended straight back. The other extends straight ahead.

Then as the one leaning forward bends backward, the other is drawn forward and up. Repeat this rapidly and vigorously.

Another exercise of particular benefit to the legs is this: The two people face each other and clasp hands, standing with the heels together.

Then sink on the left leg, bending it at the knee, and at the same time thrust the other leg violently to the right. Meanwhile pull against the other person. Return to the upright position and repeat the exercise, bending the right knee and thrusting with the left leg.

Rheumatism —Neuritis LEAVE YOU FOREVER

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of needless suffering, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense ALLEN'S with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money on the first pint bottle to all who state they received no benefit. HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 8.—Through the efforts of Charles A. Service, assistant secretary of the American Radio Relay League, a new amateur call letter plan will be launched for trial on midnight, Dec. 15, of this year, with expectations that communication between amateurs of all countries will be made as easy as it now is between those in the several states of our own country. Briefly, this plan is to insert between the call of the station addressed and the one sending, an initial which in most cases is that of the country, so that listeners in other nations the station according to its country. The exceptions to the rule of first initials are O for South Africa, Q for Cuba, and R for Argentine. Eleven countries are represented in this plan, which leaves room for other nations to have a letter assigned when their amateurs become sufficiently active. Amateurs are advised, when calling another station in their own country, to insert between the two station calls the initial of that country, so that listeners in other nations may identify the operator sending.

Was It Wrong for Her to Invite Him In?

SHE was just an innocent school girl, the daughter of a proud family. That she should receive attention from male companions was, in the eyes of her parents, inconceivable.

True, she occasionally mingled with younger boys at a church affair, or on some outing fostered by the school. But never were they allowed to cross the threshold of her home. What ignorance! What hypocrisy! It was only natural that she should pay the penalty. But for what?

He said she smiled at him. Perhaps she did. But how could she help it? There was the broad blue sky looking down—and the golden sunshine pouring over everything and—

"May I walk a little way with you?" he asked. "Of course you may," she answered. And when they reached her house, she told him about her father dying, of her mother being away and how lonesome the old home seemed.

"I don't suppose you wish me to come in?" he asked. "Why yes!" she told him, for she was delighted—flattered—with the thought of his interest in her.

And when they had gone into the house and he had closed the door—suddenly he drew her towards him. "Are you very sure that you want me to remain here with you alone?" he asked.

What was her answer? What would yours have been? Was it wrong for her to invite him in? You'll find the answer in one of the most appealing, pathetic stories ever written—a true tale of innocence, tragedy and crowning love—that is but one of many thrilling romances in the December issue of True Story Magazine. Sarazen of the Lone Star State

HARRY COOPER

By N. E. A. Service
DALLAS, Nov. 8.—It is not likely that the high-voltage golf pros from the east—the Hagens, the Sarazens and the Kirkwoods—who annually tour the south and the southwest in the winter, chasing elusive cash prizes, will have everything their own way when the season opens.

Standing out as a defensive bulwark is one Harry Cooper, 13-year-old son of a local professional, called by experts the most promising young professional that has come to golf since the initial appearance of Sarazen, who became the nation's champion at 21.

Cooper, built somewhat like Sarazen, and a player after the Italian's style—a free, fierce hitter off the tee and a hold player to the green—has been breaking course records in countless numbers all year.

Over the long, difficult Brook Hollow club course young Cooper shot a 72 the first time he saw it. His 68 stood for a long time as the best ever made at Cedar Creek. His 35 over the nine-hole Sherman course has never been beaten. Over a course of similar length at Waxahachie he scored an amazing 32. At Longview, a tricky nine-hole, he registered a 34. His 49 over the Dallas municipal course continues to defy the best efforts of some of the game's finest rollers.

Cooper was the Lone Star state entry in the professional match play championship at Pelham Bay this fall. Cooper broke par for the course by two strokes, advanced to the second round, and bowed to the fine golf of Cyril Walker after a tumultuous tussle. These performances are sufficient to show that the youngster is a genuine comer.

Cooper, playing the game since a mere tot, has had the benefit of a sound and expert instruction from his dad, Syd Cooper, a golfing product of the old country. The senior Cooper was somewhat of a star himself in England. "My boy Harry is much better than I ever was. I believe he will be a champion." Saying which, the elder Cooper hastens to assure you that he speaks as a professional and not as a father.

Football Facts

BY BILLY EVANS

The Question

A is the offensive team in possession of the ball while B is the defensive team. On the first down one of the halfbacks on team A goes through the line for a gain of about five yards but when tackled fumbles the ball. The quarterback on the B team tries to recover the ball while it is in the air, but is unable to retain possession of the ball as it eludes his grasp after he has fumbled it several times. Another player on the A team which originally had the ball, regains possession and is downed seven yards in advance of where the play started. This play caused a serious dispute as to what down it was when a player on the A team secured possession of the ball seven yards in advance of where the play started. The referee ruled second down and three yards to gain. The A team argued that it was first down, since the ball passed into the possession of the B team after a fumble by the A team, only to have the A team recover the ball on a fumble.

The Answer

The referee was correct in his ruling that it was second down and three yards to gain, since the ball had been advanced seven yards from where the play started and was in the possession of the A team that started the play. In order to have been first down the ball must have passed into actual possession and control of the B team and then have been fumbled and regained by a player on the A team. The rule committee holds that a player merely juggling the ball does not have control of it. Hence when an offensive player fumbled the ball and a defensive player merely juggled it in an effort to gain possession, only to have an A player recover it after the double fumble, it is simply treated as a first down and a seven yard gain.

KATHERINE LEE

By N.E.A. Service
"CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Seventeen years old, an athlete for exactly one year, Katherine Lee of this city now looms as one of the most promising feminine sport contenders in the country.

Recently she established a world's record for women in the high jump, clearing the bar at 4 feet 10 1/2 inches. Later in an unofficial effort she bettered the performance with a 5 feet 4 inch jump.

She is also a broad jumper, pole vaulter and hurdle racer of exceptional ability. Experts predict she will be the greatest all-round woman athlete in the world within a year or so.

"CHANGE OF PACE" IS ROCKNE'S SYSTEM

BY BILLY EVANS

In baseball it's the manager who shifts his style of play that gets results.

No longer is the old army game, a baseball team used in reference to a team that uses the sacrifice constantly with a runner on first in an effort to tip over a run.

One run doesn't mean much in these days of the lively ball. In an air-tight pitching duel, the proper play is to try for a run, but pitchers' battles are the exception. The dangerous team is the club that mixes them up.

The same principle holds good for a winning pitcher. Once upon a time a fast ball alone was enough to be a big winner, but those days are past. The pitcher must mix 'em up, have a change of pace.

Works Both Ways

What holds good for baseball is equally true in modern football. Open play is to the gridiron what the lively ball is to the diamond.

All of which brings us up to the vital question, the reason for the remarkable success of the Notre Dame eleven. On successive Saturdays Notre Dame overwhelmed three of the strongest teams in the country, West Point, Princeton and Georgia Tech.

Why the remarkable success of Notre Dame? First, of course, one must mention Coach Knute Rockne, master strategist of the gridiron. He is the so-called "master mind."

Must Have Talent

In the last world series it was proved the "master mind" meant nothing if lacking the talent to carry out instructions. Fortunately for Rockne he has the very men in his football squad needed to exploit his system to the highest degree.

Notre Dame mixes them up. Against the Army Notre Dame worked the forward pass over time. Princeton prepared for such a game and Notre Dame shifted to a running attack. Against Princeton Notre Dame gained 220 yards by rushing, 41 yards by forward passing.

Notre Dame's great success is due to a combination of the forward pass and the running game. The pass constantly acts as a threat and offers a mask to an end run or an off-tackle play, often better offensive weapons than the pass.

Ever since the adoption of the pass Rockne has always been able to visualize, see the possibilities of the play far in advance of most coaches. To use a baseball term the Notre Dame eleven has a change of pace that is most deceptive and disconcerting. The opposition never knows what is coming next.

Rockne has the winning system. His great backfield, sextet of Miller, Stuhldreher, Layden, Crowley, Maher and Bergman, aided by fast moving forwards are able to carry the Rockne system to a successful completion.

A great coach plus a great team tells the story of Notre Dame.

ZEV ENTERED IN PIMLICO RACE

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Nov. 8.—"Old Hiltop" patrons will be given an opportunity this afternoon to see Zev, Harry F. Sinclair's crack three-year-old in action. Zev is entered in the Pimlico serial No. 2, $1000 added, at a mile and one furlong. It will be his first appearance since his defeat by a Memorial to the Latona champion ship.

Opposed to Zev are Tryster, Hephathors, General Thatcher and Home Stretch. The race is a weight-for-age affair. Zev is a heavy favorite, especially as the track is muddy.

TO PLAY IN LAWRENCE

On next Sunday the Belvidere team will journey to Lawrence and play the strong Tremont aggregation of that city at O'Sullivan park. The Tremonts defeated the O.M.I. Cadets last Sunday. The Belvidere team has one of the strongest lineups in the state and is ready to meet any of the so-called "Champs" at any time. They wish the Cadets would play them and settle the question as to which is the better team.

The following Belvidere football players will meet at the high school annex at 7:15: Desmond, Tuohy, Norimandin, F. Bernier, Donnellan, Gleason, Buoy, White, Kempton, Egan, T. Bernier, Hill, Pope, Bart and Lough.

FOOTBALL GAME CANCELLED

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The scheduled trip of the Great Lakes eleven to Newport to play Newport sailors on Saturday in the first game to decide the naval training championship of the United States, has been cancelled because of the trip involved. Instead, Hampton Roads will play Newport Saturday and the winner will play Great Lakes in Chicago or at Great Lakes, Ill., Thanksgiving day.

Ride 'im Cowboy!

by the Veteran Motorist

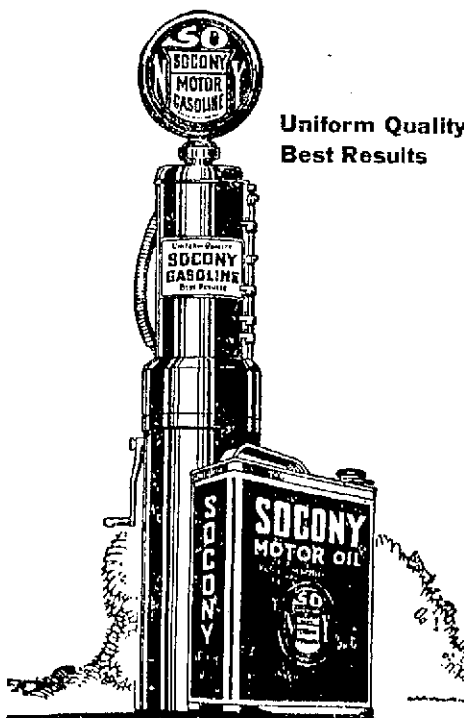

"LAST August a friend of mine persuaded me to go up to Tex Austin's Rodeo, in the Yankee Stadium, and for the first time in my effete Eastern existence, I saw honest-to-goodness cowboys and girls ride those bucking, sun-fishing bronchos—and I took my hat off to them in admiration.

"To watch the rider stick to that animated, whirling up-and-down animal was a wonderful example of human strength and intelligence pitted against brute force.

"I thought at the time how a great many motorists who use 'bootleg' gas are like an inexperienced rider trying to ride a bucking broncho. They are always 'thrown' in the long run (and sometimes the quality of the gas they use makes even a staid automobile jump and flutter like a wild horse!)

STOKES DIVORCE CASE HONOR FOUNDER OF ORGANIZED FOOTBALL

Summing Up Begun Immediately After Closing of the Rebuttal

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Summing up of the case of plaintiff and defendant in the divorce suit of W. E. D. Stokes against Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, was begun at noon today, immediately after the closing of the rebuttal, in which an attempt was made to refute statements of Mrs. Stokes that she had never been in Bethel, Conn., with Edgar T. Wallace, the co-respondent.

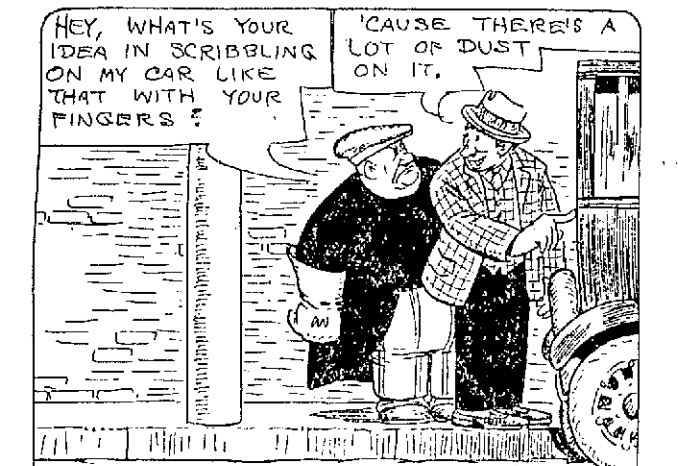

George H. Chase, former teller of a Bethel bank, testified that in 1914 or 1915, he had cashed checks made by "Helen Stokes." He was called in rebuttal by counsel for Mr. Stokes.

Earlier in the trial witnesses for the wealthy hotel man declared that Mrs. Stokes had been seen in the Bethel homes of W. L. Pepperman and Thomas Brender with Edgar T. Wallace, the co-respondent.

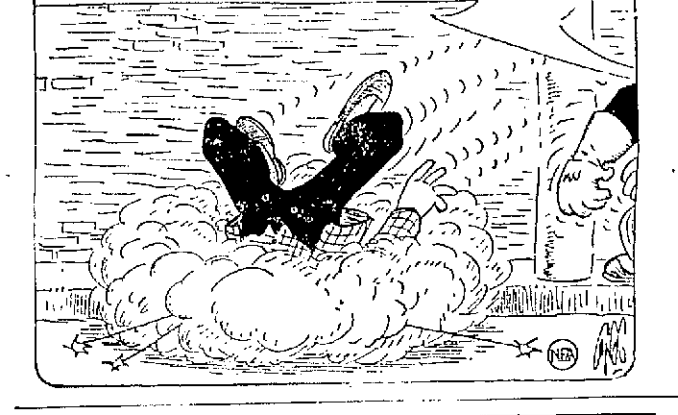

After Chase had testified, Mrs. Stokes took the stand and repeated the statement that she had never been in Bethel. She said she carried two bank accounts in 1914 and 1915, but that she had no way of checking up the stubs of checks which were at her home in Denver.

In cross-examination, Chase was asked if he had not been discharged from the bank after discovery of a shortage. He admitted that he had made a false entry and added that his parents had made good the shortage.

Modernization of Valley of Kings

LUXOR, Egypt, Nov. 7.—Modernization of the remote Valley of Kings is steadily progressing and to the other recent 20th century innovations will soon be added the telephone. The Egyptian government has begun the installation of a line between this city and the valley. A year ago the district wherein the rulers of ancient Egypt were buried was almost as inaccessible from Luxor as it was in the time of the Pharaohs, but now a motor road runs through the valley, and soon the telephone poles will appear.

Defends Belgian Action at Aix

CORLENZ, Germany, Nov. 7.—The Belgian high commission, replying to the protest to Joseph Matthes against the part taken by the Belgian military in compelling the separatists to evacuate the buildings they had captured at Aix-la-Chapelle last week, says it is impossible to negotiate with the Rhineland Republic as that regime has never been recognized either as a de jure or a de facto government. The Belgian action at Aix, the reply says, was entirely legal as the first duty of the Belgian Rhineland forces is to suppress violence.

ADDRESSES LIONS CLUB

Lowell High School Principal Gives Interesting Talk on Lowell Schools

Principal Henry H. Harris of the Lowell high school was today's speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Lowell branch of the Lions club in the banquet room of the Y.M.C.A. He devoted his time to an explanation of the curriculum and personnel of the new high school on Kirk street.

Commencing his talk with a comparison of the school with a comparison of which he had the good fortune to be the head, Mr. Harris went on to tell of the phenomenal growth in the student body, since the erection of the new building. From a period of four years in which there was practically no growth, the number of pupils has grown to 233. This represents an increase of 63.6 per cent since 1919. The increase in the teaching force for a corresponding period of time has only been 52 per cent. The cost of running this establishment for the city is over $1000 for each day there is a session of school.

This increase in the number of girls and boys attending secondary schools has been described as phenomenal, by prominent educators. Mr. Harris said, and the growth in Lowell has been greater than it has throughout the country. Accommodations in the new school are very nearly taken up, although 200 or 300 more pupils could be placed in classes there. Had it not been for the inauguration of the junior high school system in Lowell, in all probability the new school would have proven inadequate inside of a period of five years. It is not possible for Lowell to eliminate the first year and make the high school a three-year course, as has been done in some cities, on account of the variety of schools of the elementary grade which feed their graduates to it, requiring too many junior high schools to be practical. Mr. Harris praised the work done by Supt. of Schools Molloy on the junior high schools locally.

Mr. Harris thought it extremely probable that some day Lowell would see the institution here of a junior college by the state, in which those students who wish to go beyond a secondary school education, may take the professional and liberal art studies equal to those given in the first two years of college and from there go to any higher institution in the country and enter as a junior. Such a course is now being tried at the State Normal school and the results are being watched with interest by educators.

Mr. Harris closed with an explanation of the manner in which the variety of subjects offered for instruction had been widened through the course of many years until now classes in music, home nursing, millinery, physics and other courses are to be had. The school as a unit has much better feeling existing than was formerly the case, when there was a co-existence between the pupils in the annex and the ones in the main building. He stated it as his opinion, that the money spent daily on the public schools of Lowell was the best investment the city government could make at any time.

The speaker was secured by Gardner Dumas, and introduced by J. Victor Carey, secretary of the club. The usual music was furnished by the Lion's quartet, accompanied by "Billy" Gilmore, pianist at Keith's Theatre. President Charles E. Bartlett presided over the meeting.

CONFERENCE AT WHITE HOUSE ON FARM SITUATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The farmers of Kansas and other middle western states expect the administration either through action by congress or by the interstate commerce commission to reduce freight rates on agricultural products. Representative Thuermer, republican member of the house agriculture committee, told President Coolidge during a conference today on the farm situation. Mr. Thuermer said that with a reduction in freight rates, the situation largely would right itself. He indicated that he would not support the move to repeal section 15-A, the rate provision of the transportation act, and said he anticipated no effective endeavor to repeal or change the Capper-Thacher grain trading act.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 3

As soon as the little adventurer set foot aboard the boat, Flip appeared and clambered all over his master. "Gee, that dog is mighty glad to see you, Sonny," laughed one of the men. Jack told the three sailors that Flip had been with him on every adventure he had ever taken.

"So you're an adventurer, too," said the man who had invited Jack to come aboard the boat. "Well, maybe you'd like to join us in the adventure we're about to set forth on. We're adventurers also." Then he invited Jack to listen to their adventure song. And all four sat down on the deck.

Flip slunk down by Jack's side and was soon dozing. "Gee on and sing," suggested Jack. So the three sailors swung into song with this verse: "Happy sailors are we three, cheerful and laughing and bold; sailing out across the sea, in search of a mess of gold." (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
Olive Roberts Barton

IT WAS RINGTAIL COON HIMSELF

Nancy and Nick and Will of the Wisp began to look for Pukonose Pickered. They wanted to make sure that the little fish was safe, for Ringtail Coon had come down from his tree that night at moon rise and snatched off to the pond to get his supper.

"I wish Pukonose liked deep water, but he doesn't," said Will of the Wisp. "He just likes to loaf around in muddy shallow water near to the bank, and that makes it easy for Ringtail to reach in and grab him. Ringtail's no swimmer like Mister Mink and the Otter boys. He has to do his fishing from the shore. Sh! There comes somebody now."

The twins hid quickly behind some tall marsh grass, and Will of the Wisp put out his lantern. It is almost too dark to see, but the light from the stars and a baby moon helped them to make out a dark shape shuffling along the bank near them. And then they saw the white marks on his tail. It was Ringtail Coon himself. Ringtail's eyes are like a cat's and he can see better at night than in the daytime.

By and by he stopped with a queer little satisfied grunt and snatched down, groundhog fashion, close to the water, but not so close that Pukonose could see him. "Pukonose, Mister Pickered," he said in a voice like honey. "Nice evening this evening."

"Who is it?" came up the little fish's voice out of the water. "I was just dozing off. I don't see anybody. Who are you?"

"I'm a fairy," answered Ringtail sidelongly. "And I've come to tell your fortune."

"My, my! That's interesting," said Pukonose excitedly. "But I'd like to see you. Can you come nearer?"

"Oh, no, no! I couldn't do that!" declared Ringtail. "or it wouldn't come out right, the fortune wouldn't."

"All right, I'll do whatever you tell me," said Pukonose Pickered patiently. "I like fortunes. What's mine?"

"I always tell fortunes by looking at hands," said Ringtail. "But as you haven't any, I'll have to take hold of one of your fins. You close your eyes tight and promise not to look, and I'll hold onto one of your fins, and see what a nice fortune I can tell you. Perhaps you are going to leave home."

"Oo!" shivered the little fish. "Do you think so? There! My eyes are tight shut and here's my fin. Now what comes first?"

Suddenly a bright light flashed into Ringtail's eyes and a voice said, "This comes first. Ringtail Coon, you let go of Pukonose Pickered and go home where you belong." It was Will of the Wisp.

It didn't take Ringtail long to clear out.

Ten New Regular Police Officers Appointed by Superintendent Atkinson

Supt. Thomas R. Atkinson today appointed 10 new regular police officers as follows:

Andrew H. Cushing, 53 Crawford st.
James P. Morrison, 342 Westford st.
Joseph F. Cryan, 54 Bridge st.
Paul M. Spillane, 36 Putnam ave.
James H. Burns, 26 Wauk st.
Edward J. Linton, 56 Fort Hill ave.
William F. McBride, 52 Andrews st.
Thomas J. Nelson, 4 Agawam st.
Daniel P. Brennan, 776 Broadway.
William J. Furey, 95 Boston road.

Their appointment is the direct result of a meeting held yesterday by the city council committee on public safety, with Mayor John J. Donovan and the police chief, at that time previous requests for additional patrolmen were presented and the appointment of 10 confirmed and approved after the city auditor had assured the council that the police department appropriation for the present year will be adequate to meet the additional charges.

In addition to the appointment of the above-named officers as regulars, the superintendent will request the civil service commission for permission to appoint to the supernumerary or reserve list as possible. This number will be 12 or 13, depending upon the total number of reserve officers allowed in relation to a regular department now numbering 148 patrolmen.

Supt. Atkinson will not assign the new officers to regular routes at once, but assignments will be made as soon as possible, and beats now open will be filled.

Of the men made regulars today, three of them, Cushing, Morrison and Cryan, have been reserve officers since July, 1919; Spillane and Burns were reserve patrolmen in October, 1919, and Linton in December of that year. McBride, Nelson and Brennan became supernumeraries in September of 1921 and Furey in November of that year.

MME. PAVLOWA PLEAS

IN FINE PROGRAM
Mme. Anna Pavlova and her Russian ballet appeared at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium last evening in a delightful and highly colored program of dances that charmed the eye and showed new possibilities in the art of rhythmic interpretation. Pavlova gained world renown several years ago, but her grace and beauty still stand out supreme among the ballet artists of all time.

On her present American tour, Pavlova has as principal dancing partner, Leonid Novikoff, a dancer of remarkable ability, and her ballet is composed of 16 girls and eight men, each a soloist of marked accomplishments. A symphony orchestra, conducted by Theodore Slier, furnished music for the program that is perfectly in tune with the ideas being interpreted.

Standing out above all else in a program which contained many good things was Pavlova's own "Swan," the result of all the grace and ethereal beauty of an angel was blended. It was danced within the soft-purple rays of a spotlight on a shadowy stage and the effect was beautiful, almost beyond descriptive words. It has long been one of her best dances and will be so continue as long as she cares to appear in public.

The program was divided into three parts, the first being an elaborate Egyptian ballet, undoubtedly prompted by the recent developments and happenings in the Valley of the Kings and the general interest engendered thereby in the life of that country. The ballet was a constantly changing series of pictures in which the entire company took part and was enjoyed more for its originality and color than for its native beauty. It showed the result of a tremendous amount of painstaking preparation, for despite the intricacies of the evolutions, there was always evident perfect harmony of motion. Its movements, costumes and portier were obtained first hand in Egypt by Mme. Pavlova from carvings and traditions in monuments and museums of Cairo and Alexandria, as well as from native living dancers studied by her during her recent visit there.

The second and third parts of the program were in the nature of diversions, introducing solo dances and others in which two, three, four and sometimes more members of the company participated. Each number won recognition in its own right and each had much to do with the success attained by the entire company.

The audience was of fairly good size numerically, the only apparent emptiness being on the floor where there were many empty chairs. The parquet and balcony were well filled.

Poincare Replies to German Protest

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—Premier Poincare, replying to the recent German protest against the attitude of the French general De Metz in the Bavarian Palatinate, informed Berlin that the French government was entirely unconcerned with preparations for separatist action in either the Palatinate or the Rhine province. A semi-official statement announcing receipt of the reply said it evaded answering the complaint against Gen. De Metz. The German government had especially taken offense at his statement to a representative of Bavaria that the latter no longer had power in the Palatinate and that Bavarian officials there were prohibited from executing their duties.

"Wets" Victorious in Scotland Elections

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Judging from the results already compiled in the local option vote taken in 43 towns in Scotland this week, the liquor dealers and their customers have every cause for satisfaction. EMPEROR SIMMONS HURLS CHALLENGE AT WIZARD EVANS IN ATLANTA, GA. KLAN WAR

Demands Evans "Come Out in Open and Give Public Facts" in Connection With Shooting to Death of Capt. Coburn by Philip E. Fox, Press Agent For Klan

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—William Joseph Simmons, emperor of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, today issued a signed statement in which he hurled a challenge to Dr. H. W. Evans, Imperial wizard of the organization, to "come out into the open and give the public the facts" in connection with the shooting to death of Captain William S. Coburn, by Philip E. Fox, publicity agent of the Klan, here Monday afternoon.

"If I had been Imperial wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and my publicity director had committed such a flagrant and outrageous murder," Col. Simmons stated, "you can bet your last dollar that I would not be in hiding in some other city away from headquarters, where I could not see representatives of the press and Klansmen of the nation, who are justly entitled to any information available on the subject and would be attempting to prove beyond a doubt whatever that I had no connection with the murder and that my associates nor myself had in any way inspired this deed on the part of Mr. Fox, who is a publicity director for Mr. Evans."

Dr. Fred R. Johnston of San Antonio, Tex., chief of staff to Emperor Simmons, who returned with the emperor early today from Birmingham, also issued a signed statement.

He explained his sudden departure from Atlanta Tuesday night after he had sworn out peace warrants for Dr. Evans, Brown Harwood, H. K. Ramsey and T. J. McKinnon, Klan officials, by saying, "I had what I considered a reliable tip that certain parties were taking the midnight train for Birmingham with the avowed intention of getting the colonial out of the way via the murder route."

TWO WOMEN ARRESTED FOR SHOP-LIFTING

Two well-dressed and refined-looking women, giving the names of Grace A. McCurdy, 37, of Leominster, and May C. Thomey, 32, of Saugus, were arrested by Officers Clyde Aldrich and Simon J. Lane in Central street, shortly before noon today, and booked at the police station for larceny. They will appear in district court tomorrow morning.

The arrests followed a tip given by a clerk in Chaffin's store to the floorwalker on the second floor and relayed to Officer Aldrich, who was doing traffic duty at the corner of Central and Merrimack streets. The floorwalker followed the women to an automobile in Central street, and then told the officer of his suspicions.

Officer Aldrich then summoned Officer Lane, who was close by, and the suspects were taken to bond headquarters. At the station they admitted the theft of two Kimonos and said they would pay liberally for them if released. The Kimonos were stored in a large leather traveling bag with several other articles, which have not been accounted for.

GOV. WALTON ON TRIAL

Denied Federal Intervention by Which He Hoped to Halt Proceedings

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 8. (By the Associated Press.)—Denied federal intervention by which he hoped to halt impeachment proceedings against him, Gov. J. C. Walton will go to trial today before the state senate on 22 charges of official misconduct.

The executive is determined to make another bid for government mediation on the grounds that he would not be given a fair trial because the state legislature conspired beforehand with the Ku Klux Klan to remove him from office.

It is predicted that the impeachment hearing will be long drawn out, possibly lasting a month or more, since the governor's counsel say they will insist that the court hear evidence on all of the charges before voting upon a verdict. Conviction on one of the im-

LOWELL COTTON RECEIPTS LAST MONTH SHOWED GREAT GAIN OVER SEPTEMBER TOTALS

Gains Shown in Shipments to All Cotton Textile Centers of New England—Figures Reflect Inadequate Supply of Cotton—High Price Regarded as Near Prohibitive

October cotton receipts by railroad in Lowell for the month just ended showed a considerable gain over September. During October 19,463 bales were received here as against 8,881 for the month previous. By these figures is reflected the final breaking of the long non-buying attitude of the local mills. With stocks depleted, almost at all, many mills have been obliged to take raw cotton in order to complete orders on which they are now running. In the face of what looks like a certainty of 35-cent cotton the mills have held off buying.

It is not believed that the figures indicate any concerted buying or any weakening in the firm attitude of local mill men that prices are too high. Rather it mirrors only necessary buying to complete work under contract or in hand. The season's three month total here is only 30,355 bales as against a total of 42,367 for the same period of last season. The difference of over 12,000 bales tells its own story.

At Lawrence the October receipts

R. R. MEN QUIT WORK

Engineers and Firemen on Virginia Railway Went on Strike Today

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 8.—Virginia railway firemen and engineers to a number not definitely determined, walked out today as a result of a dispute over the discharge of several of their number recently. Railroad officials estimated that between 400 and 500 men had quit work, involving two-thirds of the line's engine crews.

The railroad labor board had ordered action held in abeyance pending a hearing Nov. 14 on the controversy between the railroad and the men. Vice President C. H. Hix of the road telegraphed the board today asking authority to employ men to fill vacancies so that all trains might be kept in operation pending settlement of the dispute.

The Virginia railway is largely a coal carrying road, and runs from the West Virginia fields to Hampton Roads.

FEDERAL OFFICERS COME TO CONFER HERE WITH U. S. COMMISSIONER WALSH

Assistant Federal Attorney John Sullivan Heads Group of Eight U. S. Officials Said to Be Investigating Alleged Thefts at Camp Devens—No Statement as to Case Available

Assistant United States Attorney John Sullivan and a group of eight federal officers came to Lowell shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon and at once went into conference with United States Commissioner Richard Braubach Walsh in connection with an investigation into reported thefts at Camp Devens.

Mr. Sullivan stated no statement was possible until tomorrow, if then, and he would neither confirm nor deny a question which suggested the possibility of the issuance of warrants.

Although it has been said that the appearance of the federal officers here is in relation to thefts at the government camp at Ayer, no direct knowledge of any such thefts is available here.

BIG DROP IN NUMBER OF VOTERS ELIGIBLE TO VOTE AT THE CITY PRIMARY

Lowell's Total Registration Today is 2596 Less Than Last Year—Each of the City's Nine Wards Shows Shrinkage in Enrollment

There are 2596 less men and women eligible to cast votes at the city primary next Tuesday than at this time one year ago. The city's total registration today is 30,819 against 33,415 last year. Each ward shows a shrinkage in its enrollment caused by a number of conditions and for several reasons, the board of election commissioners say.

This is a so-called "off" year in politics locally, as well as in the state and nation and experience has shown that registration totals fall away under such conditions. Also, the local shrinkage is due in some part to the withdrawal from the city of the Lamson Co. and many of its employees and uncertain labor conditions at mills and shops which have caused others to

DRACUT SCHOOL BOY'S DEATH NOT DUE TO INJURIES AS AT FIRST SUPPOSED BY RELATIVES

Although the autopsy being conducted by Medical Examiner Marshall L. Ailing concerning the death of 11-year-old Charles Archer of Griggs avenue, Dracut, who died in St. John's hospital last Tuesday, has not been completed, the medical examiner announces that death was due to acute ascending paralysis, and not from injuries sustained at school or while at play.

Charles L. Randall, superintendent of the school, with a member of the school board, investigated the case in the Dracut Centre school yesterday and learned that the boy was forced to discontinue play in a football game last Thursday because of an injury. In view of this, his death was attributed to a football injury, but the medical examiner's report discounts this theory.

Battery B all Set for Armistice Day Pow-Wow

Capt. Faneuf of local artillery unit, up on Wild fire, leading his battery men over the hurdles in rehearsal for big equitation program in connection with Armistice Day observance on South Common Saturday.

Armistice Day Observance
By Battery B

also been invited to attend and special seats for them in the South common stands will be reserved.

During the noon hour a picket line will be established and the members of the battery will mess on the common. The United States Reserve Artillery band will participate in the daily program as will the Boy Scouts.

"Monkey drill, Roman riding, and a 'race for the bride' in which the mounted guardsmen will all endeavor to catch a masked woman rider, are just a few of the many features and stunts carded for the day.

The only fly in the Battery B ointment, for the moment, is the desire of the city authorities to call a halt on plans for battery salutes and gun-fire exhibitions. One or two residents of Summer street protested against the cannonading and the park department authorities decided to cancel the battery's plans for shooting the big guns, deciding that broken windows might result if the cannonading were too strong.

Capt. Faneuf, greatly disappointed, got the signatures of scores of householders in the vicinity of the South common and especially those of many Summer street residents who say they are not afraid of the battery-firing and never had any windows broken yet, and the battery men now hope the park department will let them fire at least half-pound charges of powder. The old salute rations weighed about one and one-half pounds apiece, and naturally made a slight noise if you happened to be around.

Capt. Faneuf said today that the half-pound powder discharges would not put a single window beyond a distance of 125 or 150 feet. If the city authorities prevent gun-firing, four of the most important features on the Saturday field day program will be cancelled and celebration visitors will miss something good, the battery men say.

The all-day battermen's drill and field maneuvers, with military sports including horse races and special feature bills for masses and individuals, is the second to be held by B battery. The celebration is in honor of Armistice day.

The program is the longest and most varied ever given on the South common in military maneuver presentations. No. 1 feature is "Action Left" with the entire battery participating, a typical artillery charge, followed by a volley of four guns (if permitted by the city authorities), and then a flag-raising, with music by the U. S. Reserve Corps band of the 389th Field Artillery. Next comes a gun drill, with Gunner Sergt. Raymond Richards, Gunner Corp. George W. Stacey, Gunner Sergt. W. Chell, Gunner Corp. Delbert

Wilson, Gunner Sergt. Rocheleau, Gunner Corp. Durgin, Gunner Sergt. Brady and Gunner Corp. Shanley on guard.

There will be a snappy four-minute artillery drill with blank ammunition. Shoe races follow—a comic event—upon to all cannoners of the battery. Next comes a cake driving exhibition, cross-country race, rescue race, harness and hitching contest, and a novelty exhibition by the Organized Reserves under Major Twobles. These are morning events.

In the afternoon, headquarters detachment and combat train under First Lieut. Ariston K. Barrows has the field. Communications will be erected on the field for telegraphing and telephoning. Another "Action Left" by the battery is scheduled. If permitted, and then comes hurdlings, monkey drills, and singing around the old caissons to any popular tune of both war and peacetime days. The army heroes' prayer will also be read.

Roman riding, rough riding, mounting exhibitions come next in order, and then the final glorious windup—the race for the bride. Before the exhibition winds up there may be a snappy picture showing the battermen repulsing a strong attack and some "echoes from the western battle front," that may give the folks on the side lines a little idea of a real battery in hot action. If the gunners are allowed to fire half-pound powder charges as desired.

DAN WEDS AGAIN

"Dapper" Dan Caswell, wealthy young Cleveland, has embarked upon another cruise o'er the marital seas. And, as everybody expected, it will be this young lady, June Castleton, former Follies and Sally beauty, who'll chart his course. Dan's first voyage, with Jessie Reid, also of Flo Ziegfeld's dancing maidens, came to grief before it hardly had begun. And then he said he'd never marry another show girl!

SPEAKING OF ROYALTY—

How's this for regal beauty? The young miss is Princess Heama, youngest daughter of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania. She'll be 15 in December. And what do you think of her pet Spitzes? Quite snappy, aren't they?

"MIGHTIEST FIGHTING MAN" NOW A TROOPER

This shows Bob Martin, A. E. F. heavyweight champion, called by General Pershing "the mightiest fighting man," as he looks in his new role, that of a state trooper in West Virginia. Martin was recently advised to retire from professional fighting, following an ineffectual attempt to come back at New Orleans. Martin developed a blood clot on the brain after meeting Frank Moran, veteran Pittsburgh heavyweight, and hasn't been of much value as a fighter since. He hopes the work in the Virginia hills as a trooper will restore his old vitality.

Smoke Talk Under Auspices
of Holy Name Society, Big Success

A very successful smoke talk was held last night in the parish hall of St. Columba's by the Holy Name Society of that church. Among the speakers were Rev. Fr. Waters of St. John's church, Roxbury; "Bob" Hart, big league umpire; and Rev. John J. Powers, pastor of the church. Songs and piano numbers were given by the best local talent available.

The meeting was called to order by Warren Riordan, president of the society, and a piano solo given by John Poole. A recitation by John Payne followed and then Rev. Fr. Waters was introduced.

Fr. Waters told several stories that got the crowd in good humor and then branched into his main topic, "The Papacy of Rome in the Tribunal of International Arbitration." "Next Sunday," he said, "we celebrate Armistice day. Five years ago word was flashed across the ocean that the war was over, that an armistice had been declared and to all lips arose a fervent 'Thank God.' In that day of peace we hardly knew what the war had cost the world. Soon we were to learn though. When the ships came in and the regiments started to disembark they were cheered through tears of joy and then came a hush—but of the ships came the disabled and the baskets containing the dead—even those who rejoiced over the safe return of loved ones were hushed and then arose this prayer, 'Dear God, let us have peace forever.' This was the feeling that followed the delegates to Versailles when the treaty was drawn up and this was the prayer that brought about the conference in Washington between the warring nations for disarmament and this prayer will echo and re-echo until

war and its horrors are ended forever. The world wants an end to war and wants a tribunal to arbitrate international differences so that war will no longer be necessary.

"As the tribunal to arbitrate for peace I offer the papacy of the church of Rome, fitted for this position as no nation is fitted and bearing an influence all over the world which no nation can equal. The papacy has endured through the centuries and it seems that the wild heats of revolution that have broken nations and have tried to end the papacy have only strengthened it. The enemies of papacy vanish but papacy remains. It has seen the birth of all nations new existing and will most probably chant their requiem."

Fr. Waters then told of the work of the papacy as a tribunal of peace in the centuries of the past and related historical facts which proved his statements. He told of the rule of might in the early centuries that was not dispelled until the papacy entered the lists and then told of the rule of right, justice tempered with charity that sprang up under the influence of the church of Rome. Through all the centuries right up to the time within the memory of most of us the papacy has settled international disputes and broved out the difficulties of nations without allowing them recourse to the source of war.

"History," he said, "records no nobler picture than of the popes of medieval times who went out with unraised hand and brought peace to the world. I contend that the papacy has proven in the past its power as a tribunal of arbitration and by reason of its history and tradition she is the rightful tribunal of our day. Has the power of papacy gone? No! What is necessary for a tribunal of international justice? These are necessary: impartiality, unselfishness and justice. The popes must be impartial for all children are under every flag and in every land. He must be unselfish for nothing can accrue to him in temporal power. In the many years that the papacy sat as a tribunal of justice it never added once inch of territory to its domains and the same will be the rule today. Who is better equipped to deal out justice than the leader of that church that is built on a foundation of justice and charity. I maintain that, because of these reasons, the papacy of the church of Rome is the only logical tribunal for the settlement of international differences by arbitration."

Fr. Waters was cheered to an echo at the end of his talk and a rising vote of thanks was extended him by those present. Songs by James King and Thomas Tobin followed and then "Bob" Hart was introduced.

"Bob" told in his own inimitable way the story of the last World Series and of baseball players and their actions from the standpoint of the staid blue-clad gentlemen who are the butt for caustic criticism from all sides—the umpires. For half an hour he kept the audience in the grips of laughter with his stories and he also, at the conclusion of his talk was given a rising vote of thanks. He presented to Fr. Powers at the close of his talk two baseballs to be auctioned off at the next reunion, one signed by "Babe" Ruth and the other signed by the four umpires who ruled at the recent world series.

A talk by Rev. Fr. Powers on the coming church reunion brought the most successful meeting of the Holy Name society of St. Columba's parish to a close.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Thomas J. Green and Miss Mary A. Moran were united in the bonds of matrimony at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at St. Peter's rectory, Rev. Fr. Hoffmann performing the ceremony. Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a gold ruby ring, while the best man received a pair of gold cuff links from the bridegroom. After an extended honeymoon journey sat as a tribunal of justice it never added once inch of territory to

LOWELL MAN SPEAKER
AT FARE HEARING

Secretary-Manager George F. Wells of the Lowell chamber of commerce, one of several leading representatives of large commercial organizations of similar makeup, was a speaker in opposition to the petition of the Boston & Maine railroad for an increase of 20 per cent in commutation and 12-ride trip tickets, at the rate hearing held Tuesday before the state department of public utilities. Mr. Wells spoke as representative of a large number of Lowell commuters. In his plea that the petition be refused, he announced that the Lowell chamber of commerce decided to be recorded as appearing in behalf of nearly 500 commuters between Lowell and Boston, who were emphatically opposed to any such proposed increases in railroad fares. The distance from Lowell to Boston is 25.6 miles. The present rate for 60-trip commutation tickets is $12.65. If the proposed increase of 20 per cent is granted, the same 60-trip ticket will cost $15.21, an increase of $2.56 a year. The proposed twenty per cent advance in prices would make the cost of a 60-trip commutation ticket from 15 to 52 per cent higher than the rates charged on at least 12 large eastern railroads and for distances somewhat longer than from Lowell to Boston.

Mr. Wells quoted in detail the rates now existing on such rail lines as the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the West Shore, Erie, Long Island railroad, New Jersey Central and Lehigh. The secretary-manager declared that while it may be true that the Boston & Maine has failed to show a profit on its rail operations, the Lowell chamber of commerce body fails to see why this fact should justify an increase of 20 per cent in commutation rates from 15 to 52 per cent higher than the rates charged on practically all large railroads of the east.

The opposition to the petition will be continued at a hearing to be held Nov. 14. There was a special meeting in the hearing rooms of the department of public utilities, and City Solicitor Patrick J. Reynolds of Lowell attended.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating the natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, stinging, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 16c and 20c. Adv.

It's somebody's birthday today

They must be better —
twenty million
users say they are

Chosen by twenty million people—what a tribute to Eversharp and Wahl Pen!

Eversharp is the most comfortable pencil you ever held. The perfect balance makes it so. Eversharp is the finest working pencil, too—for the features which can't be copied allow it to work day after day minus all pencil ills.

Carry two Eversharp—one with black and one with colored lead. You will like the lead that never wobbles—held tight by the exclusive rifled tip. And the automatic index that tells the length of lead in the barrel. Look, too, for the eraser and extra leads under the cap.

The all-metal Wahl Pen will also arouse your desire to own one—it is such a marked improvement. It can't crack or split, holds considerably more ink, and will last a lifetime.

Buy both. Eversharp and Wahl Pen are matched in gold and silver. Eversharp, $1 to $10; Wahl Pen, $1 to $10. Solid gold at higher prices. Look for the name on each. Ask also to see Wahl rubber pens. $2.50 up.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Announcement was made today that the general counsel of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, would meet in Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 16 to determine the amount of money to be asked from the membership of the denomination for next year's benevolence budget. For the current year, the budget was $15,000,000. The board of foreign missions will urge a material increase because of the heavy losses suffered through the Japanese earthquake.

THE ELIMINATION OF GAMBLING WHEELS

Supt. of Parks John W. Kernan will attend a conference in Worcester on the 15th which will discuss a proposed ruling from the office of Commissioner Alfred P. Foose that all gambling wheels be eliminated from fairs and midway. Such a ruling might have a disastrous effect upon the continuance of the Lowell Fourth of July midway, inasmuch as a great majority of the concessions are of this or similar type.

Move to Prevent Former German Prince From Leaving Dutch Territory

PARIS, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press) The allied council of ambassadors decided today to ask the Dutch government to prevent former Crown Prince Frederick William from leaving Dutch territory where he has been in exile since the war. The ambassadors also voted to ask the German government not to allow him to enter Germany as he is on the list of persons charged with war crimes whose arrest is sought by the allied governments. The ambassadors likewise decided to give out the text of the instructions sent on Oct. 3 and Nov. 3 to Gen. Nollet, chief of the French military mission in Berlin, with a view to the resumption of work by the allied commissions of control in Germany.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results, it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup. And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. BOSTON & MAINE BADLY IN NEED OF SLEEPERS

Hurry calls for railroad cross-ties have been sent out to the farmers of Middlesex county who own woodlots and have timber to sell.

The Boston & Maine purchasing department issued the call and scores of wood-choppers in forests all along the railroad lines between Lowell and Framingham and points east, west and north on the main division, are piling up thousands of white oak and chestnut and some red oak "sleepers" to be used for strengthening many miles of B. & M. rail lines this fall and early next spring.

The prices for cross-ties, superced-

ing last year's lower prices, have just been announced by Purchasing Agent Atwood. For grade 3 white oak or chestnut ties, 8 feet and 6 inches long, the price per "sleeper" will be $1.30. The grade 4's bring $1.45 apiece and the grade 5's, $1.60. The eight-foot cross-ties bring $1.15, $1.30 and $1.45. Red oaks, 8 feet long, bring seventy cents for grade 1, eighty-five cents for grade 2, $1.00 for grade 3 and $1.45 for grade 4.

All ties purchased from the wood-choppers have to be placed along the rights of way, handy to loading and inspection. The ties must be cut square at the ends, with top and bottom parallel, have bark removed and be "well-manufactured" and perfectly straight. All "shakes," "spalls," decayed timbers with holes and knots are barred.

Hundred of cords of new sleepers are now located near the rights of way

below Carlisle on the New Haven road. Many of these are chestnut—now a rare wood in many sections of the county. Fifteen truck loads of good chestnut ties have come in from Pepperell, destined for improving roadbeds of the B. & M. in New Hampshire next spring.

FOODS THAT MAKE BLOOD

(Proteins)

The majority of people do not choose their daily food, to any extent, for its protein or health value. Habit and custom seem to govern in this matter of choosing food, far more than any physiological reasons.

They eat what they like best or what tastes good and seems to fill the bill or the stomach. No one thing is more common, however, than over-eating and frequently of the wrong kind of food.

The proteins furnish the chief tissue building element—nitrogen. Tissue building, furnished by the normal blood stream, for the growth, repair and upkeep of your body comes chiefly from the protein group. It is the most valuable of the great food groups.

While practically all foods contain some protein, a few that are commonly used do not. Butter, cream and oil, which are composed chiefly of fat and water, and sugar, sirups and starch are non-protein.

The two most important proteins are

Great for Rheumatic Pains and Swellings

When rheumatism settles in any of your joints and causes agony, distress or misery, please remember that Joint-Ease is the one remedy that brings quick and lasting relief.

It matters not how chronic or aggravated a case may be—rheum on Joint-Ease is sure to follow.

Joint-Ease is for joint troubles only and is a clean, stainless preparation that Green's drug store, Druggists, Fred Howard and druggists everywhere are recommending.—ADV.

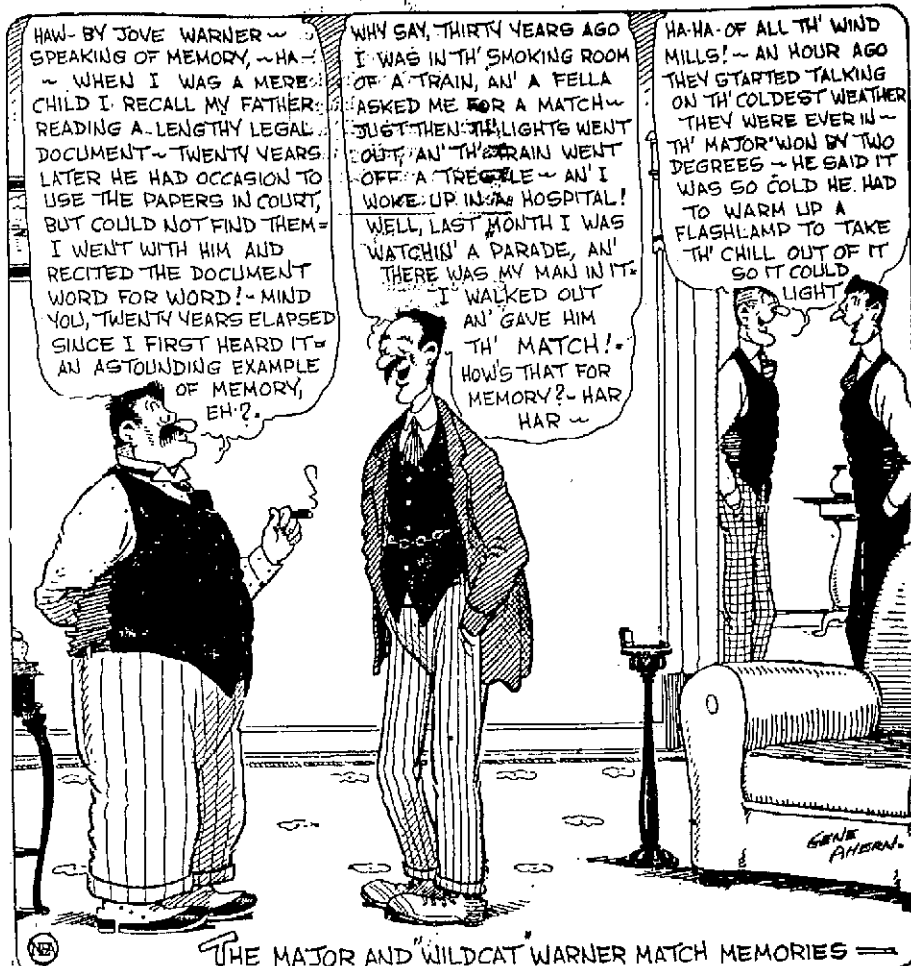

the white of eggs and lean meat. Veal, mutton, pork and ham are rich in proteins. Omelet combining ham and eggs is a most nourishing protein food. Beef soup or consommé are good for your protein portion, in liquid refreshments.

Among the vegetables the most valuable in protein are tomatoes, asparagus, canned peas, radishes and spinach. Celery and cauliflower should be freely eaten for their protein, blood building value. Oatmeal has just an average value. Mixed with milk or cream, it is a valuable blood food, although rich in fats and carbohydrates as well as protein.

Among the fruits and berries, oranges, lemons and apples, while not distinctive proteins, contain enough to be of real value in this group. Strawberries, raspberries and blackberries lead the berries in protein. Bear in mind that your protein foods are most essential. Also that too much is better than too little. The body will waste away and die if denied the proper supply of protein.

Scientific Starch Discovery Banishes Ironing Troubles

EVERY woman knows that one of the greatest annoyances is working with starch that forms a thick, sticky jelly the moment it is cool. This heavy, pasty starch clots and smears your fabrics, and often causes your iron to stick.

All this trouble has now been overcome with Linit, the new scientific starch.

New Starch Discovery

THIS remarkable starch is made by an improved process that keeps it fluid after it cools. You are never troubled with clotting, smearing or "blistering." Linit penetrates every thread of the fabric, helps prevent wear, and strengthens the material.

Linit gives ordinary cotton goods an attractive linen finish and your Linit-starched garments remain clean and fresh much longer.

Important to you

AFTER Linit is thoroughly dissolved according to directions, and ready for use, you will notice it is THIN and FREE-RUNNING LIKE WATER—with a "milky" appearance. Be sure to use Linit according to directions, and, unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is one reason why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches and is easier to iron with.

Linit costs 10c at all grocers

Get a package and begin the modern way of starching your fabrics. Perfection in starching guaranteed or your money refunded.

Linit is made by the Corn Products Refining Company—makers of the famous Argo Starch—Karo Syrup and Mazola Salad and Cooking Oil.

Glenwood

Makes Cooking Easy

"I never knew I was such a good cook"

AND I'll have to give most of the credit to our new Glenwood range, it certainly has made a difference in my cooking. I'm spending less time in the kitchen, too.

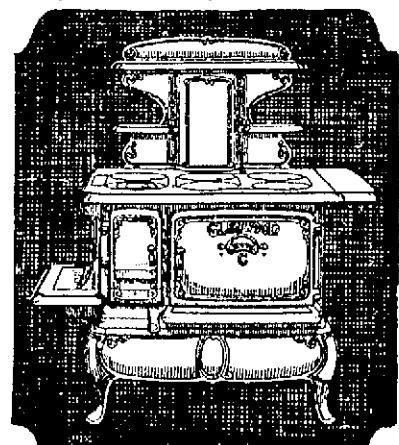

"It's a relief to have a range that doesn't need to be coaxed to cook."

A Glenwood comes as near to making cooking a pleasure as any range can. It does make cooking easy, which is really more important.

The Model "C" Glenwood is illustrated here.

Its big square oven bakes food exactly right—top, bottom and clear through. The balanced baking damper and the Glenwood Patent Indicator take care of that—you can't make a mistake.

Like every Glenwood, the Model "C" is built for a lifetime of service. It will give you a new idea of how easy it is to be a good cook.

FRIENDS NOTICED IMPROVEMENT

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Beloit, Wis.—"My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief, and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it did not help me as much as it should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 93 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. W. G. Monson, 1516 Park Ave., Beloit, Wis. Mrs. Monson is willing to write to any woman suffering from such troubles.

LIQUOR OFFICERS MAKE BIG SEIZURES

A 36-gallon still, 22 gallons of moonshine and six barrels of mash were discovered in a Grand street tenement by Sergt. Winn, Officers Kilroy, Bagley, Molony, Leahoy, Cooney and Moore, last night. Officer Cooney made a purchase on the premises previous to the seizure, the transaction being performed by the wife of the alleged owner.

A six-stall garage at Ames and Central streets was also visited by the liquor officers last night, and several cases of wet goods were taken from a truck. The liquor, according to the officers, is valued at $700. The owner of the truck will be summoned into court for an explanation.

A Corbett street tenement was raided yesterday afternoon by Sergt. Winn and Officers Leahoy, Molony, Bagley and Kilroy of the liquor squad with the result that a 15-gallon still was seized. No arrests were made.

FORGET-ME-NOT DAY FOR VETERANS

Patriotic inhabitants of thousands of cities and towns throughout the United States will on Saturday next recognize "Forget-Me-Not" day by contributing liberally to the cause of more than 100,000 maimed and broken American veterans of the World war. Thousands of school children are completing the little forget-me-nots, mementoes to be distributed to all contributors of money to the disabled veterans' fund Saturday.

All money collected will be devoted to assisting wounded or disabled American veterans, no matter what their affiliations are with veterans' organizations. Some of the funds collected are also to be used to secure national legislation for the benefit of the hero sufferers, for better hospital facilities and definite employment programs, among other things.

The Disabled American Veterans of the World War "Forget-Me-Not" day organization is a substantial one, with national headquarters in Cincinnati and a legislative committee at Washington, D. C.

"Forget-Me-Nots" will be sold in Lowell Saturday by boys and girls, scouts, club women and others anxious to aid in this humanitarian work. Remember the date—Saturday, Nov. 10.

The first social and dancing party of the recently organized Ipswich Mills Social club was held last night in the Girls' club and was attended by several hundred members of the association and their invited guests.

Mr. Edwards' talk was given early in the evening and the remainder of the night was given over to dancing. During the intermission a number of novelty dances were given by pupils of Miss Doris Conley and a solo rendered by Miss Margaret Ennis. The novelty dancing numbers were as follows: Irish jig, Miss Doris Clark; acrobatic dance, Miss Rose McArdle; and "Cop and Flapper" dance, Misses Anna and Marlon Barrett.

The officers of the club are Miss Nora M. Lewis, president; Miss Glenna Young and Miss Anna Gordon, vice-presidents; Miss Helen McArdle, secretary; and Miss Marcie McEvoy, treasurer. The board of governors consists of James Edwards and John Coughlin. CONCERT BY TEXTILE SCHOOL STUDENTS

An enjoyable concert given by several Textile school students was the feature of the regular monthly supper and social of the First Congregational church given last evening in the church vestry by the Women's association of the church.

The program of the evening consisted of selections by a male quartet composed of Harry S. Swain, Leonard Wilcox, Everett Willey and Robert Parker. Miss Czarina Bartlett accompanied the singers on the piano. The orchestra, composed of those in the quartet and Norman Forsgan, Wilbur Roberts and Paul Gagnon, accompanied by Miss Bartlett, rendered several well received numbers.

Mrs. Wallace Tucker, assisted by Mrs. Odis Butler and Mrs. George McElroy, had charge of the supper. Mrs. Carrie F. Stafford had charge of the pastry while Mrs. Leslie Hill was in charge of the dining-room.

AT THE CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Evangelist John Thomas, Native of Wales, who has been devoting all the mature years of his life to world evangelism and the spreading of the Bible gospel, is continuing his religious activities this week at the Church of the Nazarene, where large congregations are in attendance at the regular meetings.

Tomorrow evening the evangelist will give a Korean lecture, appearing in native dress of the Koreans and relating stories covering the dark days of the imprisonment and release. All evening services are being held in the Central M. E. church, John and Paige streets.

Evangelist Thomas was pastor for six years of a large church in Manchester, Eng., and assisted in the great "Welsh revival" campaigns. For years he has been preaching as a "business man evangelist" and with remarkable success.

A Reminder You Can't Forget

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—You can't forget America's disabled warriors. Thousands of pretty girls throughout the country are going to remind you, gently but forcibly, on Saturday, Nov. 10, that it's the "boys' day."

In every city, where there's a post of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, comely maidens, armed with bunches of "forget-me-nots," will be waiting for their victims.

And, of course, you can't turn them down.

Emily Wilkens, in the accompanying picture, is one of the young ladies "tagging" in Cincinnati, where the organization's national headquarters are located.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Interesting Lecture by Representative of State Department of Education

About 250 students of the State Normal school attended the third lecture in a series on "Professional Opportunities for Teachers," which was given by Frank W. Wright of the state department of education in the assembly hall of the school yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Wright took as his topic "Opportunities and Ideals in the Training Offered by the Massachusetts Normal Schools." Mr. Wright spoke of teaching as a profession. He enumerated the three great professions in the world today, namely, the ministry, perhaps the oldest profession in the world; the legal, and the medical, stating that by many, teaching was regarded as the fourth great profession now existing.

Referring to a talk given by Professor Angell of Yale in which the latter stated that a profession was that calling in which the majority of the service was given to the community, the teacher gives service to the community and in such is serving a profession," stated Mr. Wright. "I can see no service in teaching but what is public service, and in your work of teaching you are

Mr. Wright then emphasized the fact that the training given in Normal schools was for the benefit of the children who were to be taught by the teachers trained in the schools. "If you do not intend to teach, do not come to this school, as the state is not spending money to give girls education, but to make them good teachers for the benefit of the children."

"One of the greatest ideals in teaching is to be loyal to the children," continued Mr. Wright. Teachers should be loyal to one another and less critical. Criticism, especially unjust criticism, is to be avoided. Be loyal to those who teach with you and above all, be loyal to your pupils. Also in class be less ready to be sarcastic with the pupils; be kind in your treatment and speech and first of all, consider all that will lead to the good of the child."

Mr. Wright also touched upon the fact that the pupils of the Lowell State Normal school were not the only ones in the state in the large field of normal schools. He urged the pupils that because they had but two year courses not to believe they did not receive as complete a training as those who had four. "You, in that time, are getting all the training requisite at the present time," he continued. "Later it may be necessary for the state to establish four-year courses in all normal schools, but as it is now, should any student desire, she may enter the normal schools with four-year courses as a third-year student on a diploma from the Lowell State Normal school."

In closing, Mr. Wright told a story of Col. Parker, a lieutenant in Quincy. "It was at a time when much dissatisfaction prevailed and the principal cause of teachers' meeting. When they had assembled, Col. Parker called a little child of six years and placing her in a chair and his hand on her head, said: 'Teachers, this is my speech; the meeting is adjourned.' 'Remember, it is for the child that you are being trained and that you must always consider what leads to the good of the children and the proper education of children.'"

APPOINTMENT OF FOREST WARDENS BY STATE

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Appointment of all forest wardens by the state authorities, instead of continuing it in the hands of local authorities in each city and town, is to be recommended to the incoming legislature by the state department of conservation, of which William A. L. Bazeley of Uxbridge is commissioner.

This is one of two important changes the department will seek in the interest to promote efficiency in forest fire fighting. The other is that towns shall be relieved of the cost of fighting forest fires within their borders, it being transferred to the country and state on an equal basis.

Both of these ideas have been tried out in the neighboring state of Connecticut, with results which have been entirely satisfactory to the officials there, it is said.

At present the forest warden in each town is designated by the board of selectmen. Their appointment is subject to approval of the state forester, and while this power of approval permits the state authority to bar grossly unfit men, still it gives him little or no control over the local warden after his appointment has been approved. If the appointment were made solely by the state forester, it is contended that better instruction in forest fire fighting could be given, and it would be possible to utilize local wardens in towns adjoining their own.

In respect to the other proposed change, it is pointed out that under the present system each town is re-

BLOOD BUILDER GIVES STRENGTH

Two Remarkable Cases in One Portland Family Where This Tonic Restored Health

Unless the blood can carry nourishment to every tissue of the body the patient will be undernourished however much food is taken. The blood is the great carrier of nourishment and when, through weakness, it fails in this function there is bound to be malnutrition with resultant weakness and ill health.

"I suffered for a year from debility following childbirth," says Mrs. Joseph Leveque of No. 161 Forest ave., Portland, Me., "and I thought I would never get well again. I took treatment, of course, but nothing seemed to help me. The weakness in my limbs was the worst. I could not walk any distance and if I sat down I did not have strength to get up again. What I ate gave me no strength and I just kept getting weaker. If I tried to move around I would be out of breath and my heart palpitated. I had no appetite and suffered from nervous spells and headaches."

Through reading about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was led to try them and they brought back my strength. After the second box I could get up and around. I gained steadily and soon I could eat heartily and enjoy it. I took four boxes in all. I am strong now, can do my housework and do not get tired out. My nerves are stronger and I seldom have a headache.

"My daughter had no color at all and was run down. She used the pills also and has a good color now and feels strong and well. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are our family medicine."

A valuable booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free upon request. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—Adv.

quired to pay practically all of the cost of fighting forest fires within its own borders, although some of the smaller towns receive slight financial assistance from the state. It is a system which at times places heavy financial burdens upon the towns. There being on record cases in which the community has been three years in paying off a forest fire debt.

Another difficulty encountered in many of the small towns has been that of obtaining an adequate force of fire fighters. Frequently this is due to the fact that lack of funds has caused delay in compensating men for work at fires, and after waiting months for their pay, men are likely to be diffident about repeating the experience. With bills paid from the state and county treasuries, obligations would be met promptly. It is also believed that the aggregate cost of forest fires would be reduced, through increased efficiency and more up-to-date methods of fire fighting.

During the past twelve years, the average cost of fire fighting has been approximately $30,000 per year, practically all of which has been paid by the towns. The state is entirely willing to assume half this burden, if the counties will take up the other half.

In 1922 the total loss from forest fires was in the vicinity of $400,000; this year it has been somewhat less. The state authorities are anxious that the figure shall never again reach that of 1922, and they have an additional incentive in the fact that the forest area in the state is being increased each year. Already about $3,000 acres have been reforested, at an expense of millions of dollars.

"Child Genius" Takes to Easel And Oils When He Isn't Caddying

JOHN WIKTORA

BY GEORGE BRITT.
N.E.A. Service Writer.
CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—What can a golf caddy do between games except shoot craps?

Well, John Wiktor paints pictures. John was painting one full day two years ago on the flat roof of a building of the South Shore Country Club here, where he caddies and where his father has a job. As he climbed down from the roof a club member saw him and questioned him. John then was 10 years old.

Youthful Genius

"I'm an artist," he explained, his gray eyes looking over the member in dead earnest. "The lake is beautiful from up there, with sail boats going out and the sun shining on the blue. My father said it was all right to go up and paint."

So it happened that the member became interested and told Carl N. Wertz, director of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Director Wertz asked John to come down to art classes without paying any tuition, and the boy has been a student there ever since. The expense of his drawing materials he earns on the golf course.

"He is the most promising child genius we ever had," is the way the director describes him.

"He is just a little boy painter, of course. It would be distressing if he could paint like Whistler now. But his work shows the mark of the gods."

LOWELL TUBERCULOSIS COUNCIL. The regular meeting of the Lowell Tuberculosis Council was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Lowell Social Service League. Representatives from the surrounding towns of Ellington, Chelmsford, Dracut, and Tewksbury were present, and the meeting concerned itself with discussion of advisability of pooling their interests in any large council for unified action in this territory. No decision was reached.

Painting His Play

"Would you rather paint than play ball?" a visitor asks John. "Or than go swimming at the beach, or—"

"Or anything else?" the boy completes the question. "Sure I would."

John is an only child, and his imagination has been nourished upon an endless succession of romantic folk tales which his mother brought from her native Bohemia.

"My mother knows a thousand stories," he says. "But his interest in painting was first stirred by an aunt who lived with them."

John's pictures are those of a boy, as his instructor says, but already he is working in oils, the most advanced medium.

And if you are doubtful, just compare his work with that of a student twice his age at the next easel.

MASTERS' CLUB MEETS AT HIGH SCHOOL

A supper and entertainment held by the Masters' club of Lowell in the Cafeteria of the high school last evening was attended by approximately 75 men teachers of the local public schools, the Textile school, and the State Normal school.

At the conclusion of the supper a delightful program of addresses and entertainment followed. The speakers were introduced by William V. Donnelly, president of the club, who acted in the capacity of toastmaster. The opening address was by Mayor John J. Donovan, followed by Superintendent of Schools Hugh J. Molloy, and President Charles H. Eames of the Lowell Textile school.

The principal speaker of the evening was Frank W. Wright, deputy commissioner of education, who spoke at length on the various matters of concern to men teachers. Other features of the evening were the Mandolin club of the high school, which played while the supper was in progress, under the direction of W. P. Hovey, and the singing of James E. Donnelly, with Mrs. Allen McLaughlin accompanying.

The meal was served by high school girls and prepared under the supervision of Miss Susie G. Driscoll, who received many compliments on the excellent of the menu.

CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

A small variety of cases were on the district court docket this morning. Spouses Thomas pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle without a rear light burning, but the case was placed on file for lack of prosecution.

A capias for the larceny of a sewing machine brought Arthur Demers to the stand. The larceny was committed over a year ago, and on a guilty finding, Demers was fined $15. He failed to pay and was at large until last night. The case was continued one week.

A drunkenness charge against William Baronski resulted in a suspended sentence of four months in the house of correction.

Anthony Medina, for a statutory offense, was continued until Dec. 4. Paul Baranow, for illegal keeping, and Sarah Chndes, for illegal sale, were continued to Nov. 15 and 17, respectively.

Mighty Healing Power of Peterson's Ointment

For Eczema, Ulcers, Old Sores and Piles

"I wish I could publish all the grateful letters I get every week," says Peterson. "I don't believe anyone on this earth has such a happy time at work as I have. All I do is make Peterson's Ointment and read letters like these that come right from the heart."

"I had an ulcer on my ankle—had it 30 years and could not get it healed. For the last six years I had several doctors. I got one box of your ointment and it almost healed it and it was entirely healed before I had used the second one. I don't think there is a better remedy on earth." Mrs. J. C. Henderson, 520 Sprague street, Winston-Salem, N. C. Peterson's Ointment is just as good for piles as it is for old sores. It stops itching of eczema almost instantly. There isn't anything in the way of piles or face blemishes that it won't clear away, and for sore feet, chafing, sunburn, scalds, cuts and bruises there is nothing so sure or speedy. 35 cents a box at any drug store.—Adv.

SUES WITH DOUG

Evelyn Brent, former leading lady for Douglas Fairbanks, has joined Doug and his wife, Mary Pickford, in the libel suit against an eastern magazine. The publication, their petition contends, asserted Miss Brent had caused a rift in the Fairbanks' marital life. This, all three deny. And what's more, they allege the magazine said Miss Brent was fired by "Doug" because she was "growing fat."

NAMELESS WOMAN OF NARROW ESCAPE FROM JAPAN SENDS THANKS SERIOUS INJURY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—A nameless woman of Japan has thanked "My dear, the people of America," in a letter received today by Secretary Hughes, for the relief work administered by Americans in Japan during the period of suffering and hunger which followed the recent fire and earthquake disaster in Tokio and Yokohama.

"How we all Japanese thank you for your great kindness in this time," the letter said. "You gave us all. You sent us much necessary things and you are very kind to us. Our thanks are beyond measure. We all will never forget that hereafter. I am only a nameless woman. But I must write you this, even with such a broken word, as I could not keep secret my thanks. Please excuse my impolite."

"Hoping you are happy and peaceful forever and thanking you for your great kindness."

None of the letters of gratitude, including those received from the emperor of Japan, the prime minister and the Japanese ambassador here has been more appreciated by state department officials than that received from the "nameless woman."

THE MUSCLES MUST BE DEVELOPED UNIFORMLY

BY NIELS BUKH

You can't make a strong body waving a fan.

The trouble with most of us is that we are strong in spots. We tend to develop only those muscles that we use in our daily occupations. The blacksmith has a powerful forearm. The stover has a strong back, and so on.

The chief points of weakness are the abdomen, the fore side of the biceps and the calf. And until these defects are corrected, the perfect body is an impossibility. With a uniformly strong body, specialization may then be attempted with greater success.

Two people are necessary, or it may be performed alone by hooking the toes under some solid support such as an attached ladder. When two people are doing it, the toes are hooked under the rungs of the other person's leg. One lies flat on the back, arms extended straight back. The other bends forward, with the hands extended straight ahead. Then as the one leaning forward bends backward, the other is drawn forward and up. Repeat this rapidly and vigorously.

Another exercise of particular benefit to the legs is this:

The two people face each other and clasp hands, standing with the heels together. Then sink on the left leg, bending it at the knee, and at the same time thrust the other leg violently to the right. Meanwhile pull against the other person. Return to the upright position by applying the same principle, bending the right knee and thrusting with the left leg.

Rheumatism —Neuritis LEAVE YOU FOREVER

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of restless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense ALLENBIE with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money on the first pint bottle to all who state they received no benefit. THE CASE OF FRANCE

There is much discussion over the attitude of France in standing firmly against any policy that would allow Germany to escape the payment of a reasonable amount of reparations. It may not be generally remembered that when the situation was reversed in 1870-71 France had to pay Germany a war indemnity of $5,000,000,000 gold francs and Germany stipulated that her armies would occupy 20 of the 83 French departments until payment was made in full. France had also to pay all the German war expenses, including those for mobilization and occupation. Nevertheless, she had paid up to the last franc two and a half years after the signature of the peace treaty, while now, four years after the close of the World war, Germany has scarcely paid for the cost of occupation by armies far less numerous than those she left in France after the war of 1870. France was willing to pay and paid promptly. Germany does not seem willing to pay anything and she is encouraged in this attitude by the sympathy of other powers exerted in her behalf.

Germany has kept an army of 500,000 men and 150,000 horses quartered upon France, reducing the number only as the amount of the indemnity was reduced by substantial payment. The largest number of men in the army of occupation in Germany following the World war was 132,375, made up of all the allied contingents. Over four years after the signing of the Versailles treaty on June 28, 1919, France has received nothing for reparations. What Germany has paid is not even sufficient to cover fully the expenses of occupation. It should be remembered also that both wars were fought on French soil, while Germany's territory remained untouched. Is it any wonder that France stands firmly on her right to compel Germany to pay a reasonable amount of reparations?

A VACANCY TO BE FILLED

Former Governor Samuel W. McCall's death creates a vacancy in the board of trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street railway. Mr. McCall was one of the five public trustees, having been appointed to succeed Homer Loring, former chairman, who resigned. The terms of the trustees expire in January next, they having been appointed for five years. The law requires appointment of successors to serve another five-year period beginning in January. The four remaining trustees are Arthur G. Wadleigh, chairman; Fred J. Crowley of Lowell, Isaac Sprague and Earle P. Charlton.

Whether an appointment will be made right away to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Ex-Gov. McCall, remains to be seen. Many persons interested in public service corporations and the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway in particular, are wondering if Lowell will continue to have a representative on the board of trustees during the next five years. There are reports current that an entirely new board will be named in January, but in all probability it will make slight difference to the riding public.

THE VETERAN JOURNALISTS

Invitations come to hand in the crowded morning mail, requesting attendance at the sixteenth annual reunion and dinner of the Veteran Journalists, scheduled for November 10. Notables in the journalistic world are to be there, we are told, with Brother E. A. Grazier of the Boston Post and Col. Charles Hopkins Clark of the venerable Hartford Courant as leading guests, promising to partake of the good things at the banquet table and, perhaps, to be heard in after-dinner remarks. Veterans also of the old and revered New England Associated Press Association, which was absorbed by the present "A. P.", will be in the reunion through to partake of the blessings of Weston F. Hutchins, dean for many years of Boston courthouse reporters and at present head of the Veterans' association.

A hasty review of the list of presidents of the organization, recalls pleasantly to mind such former active as Linn Boyd Porter, General Charles H. Taylor of the Boston Globe, George F. Babbitt, Clarence W. Barron of the Boston News Bureau, former Governor Samuel W. McCall, Gen. William A. Bunker, Robert Luce and numerous others well remembered in the front rank of familiar New England journalism.

These men and others of like calibre helped materially in laying the foundations of modern newspaperdom as it exists today. The times change, demands upon publishers of daily newspapers call for innovations and improved methods; but the high standards established by some of the early pioneers in New England journalism, have been maintained, with rare exceptions, under sound management and able enterprise that augurs well for the busy work of the linotype, telegraph, typewriter and editorial pen. There is no other industry in the country in which the inventions and progress of the age are so fully utilized as in the production and distribution of the modern, up-to-date newspaper.

SOUTHERN TEXTILE MILLS

Are the textile mills in the south actually operating as prosperously as reported recently in some of the glowing dispatches from points south of the Mason and Dixon line? South Carolina mills where vast quantities of cotton cloths are produced in twelve-month runs under normal conditions, are said to be very much dissatisfied with present market conditions and prospects.

From authoritative sources, it is learned that the textile situation in Charlotte, N. C., is today unsatisfactory. Production costs are out of proportion to selling prices. Holding prices to the minimum has failed to stimulate buying. Some jobbers and retailers are said to be endeavoring to place orders for spring delivery at present prices, but mill men are as a rule fighting shy of these gambles. Like their northern brethren in the cotton textile industry, they do not look for any reduction in prices and feel that to accept orders for future delivery, would place a greater burden than they could carry.

It looks as if the southland is beginning to realize what New England textile men have seen for some time—that high-priced cotton cloths are not desired in large quantities, and many large dry goods and department store managers are generally taking an attitude of opposition to any increase in prices at the present time.

THE DURKEE HOUSE

The Lowell Historical society by its demonstration before the city council on Tuesday evening, left no doubt as to the sentiment in favor of restoring the Durkee house and saving it as a relic of comparative antiquity of which Lowell will have reason to feel proud in the years to come. If the venerable old dwelling be made a sort of shrine, perhaps more notable even than the Whistler house.

We have so very few such places that it would be a pity to let this relic of a past age crumble in the natural course of decay. It is gratifying to know that the city council responded so promptly to the appeal for the restoration of this historic structure, now on the point of collapse. The steps already taken offer assurance that the Durkee house will be restored so as to withstand the shocks of time for future ages and to remain as one of the landmarks of our early history, dating back to the time when the Indians disputed with the early settlers the possession of the rich lands along the banks of the Merrimack.

Mayor Edward W. Quinn, the popular mayor of Cambridge, scored another signal victory in being re-elected by a majority of over 7,000 votes over his opponent, Godfrey L. Cabot, treasurer of the Watch and Ward society. At no time was there much doubt that Mayor Quinn would be re-elected; but to make his victory as emphatic as possible, Mayor Curley of Boston took a hand in the campaign, making several speeches in Mr. Quinn's behalf. The fact that ex-President Eliot of Cambridge condemned Mayor Quinn's administration, did not seem to lessen the mayor's popularity at the polls.

The election of Porter H. Dale as republican senator in Vermont is only what was expected in that republican state. The vote received by Mr. Dale is practically same as that polled last year by Frank L. Greene, the republican candidate for United States senator. It does not appear, therefore, that Mr. Pollard's advocacy of a change in the Volstead law made any perceptible difference in the vote cast. It seems that the polling at the elections was conducted on strictly party lines regardless of all the issues.

The friends of Thomas P. Boulger are glad that he has been re-elected as member of the Auditorium trustees despite the fact that for some time past he has been unable to attend the meetings. He is now steadily recovering from the effects of a serious operation.

Auto owners can get their registration blanks for the new year at the office of the chamber of commerce, and a registration office will be opened here later. That will save the owners a trip to Boston and the loss of a business day.

The aviators are smashing records high and low. Let us hope that in their efforts to do things never before attempted, they will not smash themselves.

It is to be hoped that the allies of France in the World war will help her to collect reparations from Germany rather than help Germany to evade payment.

That Armistice Day falls on Sunday should not prevent its patriotic observance on Saturday.

A Thought

When a man feels the reprehension of a friend seconded by his own heart, he is usually heated into resentment.—Dr. Johnson.

Then Teacher Pined

A certain teacher, proud of the way in which she had instructed her class in botany, told the examiner to call on any scholar and to ask whatever question he pleased on the subject. It happened that the first pupil selected was a newcomer who had attended only two lectures. Asked to name some botanical terms, he replied: "Please, sir, I know only two—aurora borealis and delirium tremens."

And Everybody Grinned

The examination was in full swing. The papers had been handed out and the candidates were knitting, their brows over the questions. Dabba was among them and, after reading one of the questions, he smiled and finally took the paper up to the examiner. "There is a mistake in one of the questions," he said, with a superior air. "Indeed," was the reply. "I am obliged to you for pointing it out." "It occurs in No. 5, in which insufficient data are given," went on Dabba. "I don't see any error," said the examiner, as he scrutinized the paper. "Why, sir," cried Dabba, triumphantly. "It says 'There are no mistakes to the next' but it doesn't say the distance between them."

The Little Brother

Among the little pictures:
The back of the old man's wall.
Is one of a dim old forest.
That seemeth best of all.
Not for its gnarled oak golden.
Dark with mistletoe and holly.
Nor for the violets golden.
That sprinkle the vale below.
Nor for the milk-white lilies.
That lean about the fountain heads.
Cupping the day with the sunbeams.
And stealing their golden edge.
Nor for the vines on the upland.
Where the bright berries rest.
Nor the phlox nor the pale sweet cowslips.
It seemeth to me the best.

I once had a little brother
With eyes that were dark and deep;
In the lap of that olden forest
He slept in peace asleep;
Light as the dawn on his cheeks,
Free as the winds that blow.
We roved there in the beautiful summer months.

The summers of long ago.
But his feet on the hills grew weary,
And one of the autumn eves,
I made for my little brother
A bed of yellow leaves.

Sweetly his pale arms folded
My neck in a weak embrace.
As the light of immortal beauty
Shed over his face.
And when the arms of sunset
Lodged on the treelops bright,
He fell, in his saint-like beauty,
Asleep by the gates of light.
Therefore, of all the pictures
That hang on Memory's wall,
The one of the dim old forest
Seemeth the best of all.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

The finals in the club cup contest at Longmeadow over last week-end resulted in a victory for William McGilly, popular teller of the Middlesex National bank. Bill has become a fan of the most pronounced description when it comes to golf, and he plays all through the winter months when it is impossible to go out and hook a few into the rough. His playing is getting better and better, however, and some of these days we expect to see his name in the headlines as a new city champion. In his match last Sunday, he got a 41 for nine holes with an 8 in his medal score, which to a devotee of the sport betokens some playing.

In the popular conception "shoddy" typifies that which is undesirable. Because the public does not understand a condemn where a question is asked, the American Woolen company has printed and is distributing a booklet entitled "What Shoddy Is." By means of this booklet it is hoped to clear up the popular misconception in the use of shoddy.

The word is derived from shod, meaning paring or separation. Before cloth can be woven, the worst first be spun into yarn which is either woolen or worsted, depending upon process and raw materials used. Worsted yarn must be made from virgin wool which is combed so the three lie parallel along the length of the yarn. Such yarn can be utilized in a fabric where durability and strength are desired rather than warmth and imperiousness.

Woolen yarn is made from wool fibres and is spun in a combing, the process of carding is used, which produces, mixes, and criss-crosses the fibres to the greatest possible extent. Such a yarn is more lofty and porous, better and looking of the individual strands of yarn when they are woven, thereby producing a cloth which is less porous than worsted cloth, but not necessarily that woolen cloth is not only from yarn which has both long and short fibres, but it is essential that such be the case if a compact, airtight fabric is to be produced, the longer fibres providing the strength and the shorter ones filling up the spaces and binding the continuous yarns in a piece of cloth.

Real shoddy, as it is understood, consists of fragments of cloth or other wool material which has to be picked up from the floors of the mills and left in the mill's clips which are left after his patterns are cut, is derived from an important source of shoddy. Shoddy is as good or bad as the cloth from which it is derived. So on down the scale to rags and rag-brown stockings, which have been discarded by the ragman, which have to be carbonized and neutralized to eliminate the vegetable matter, these are the sources of the shoddy supply. If it were not for reworked wool there would not be enough wool in the world to clothe the human race.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—A taste of the strenuous life, as practiced by red-blooded Americans from the great west, was given the tourist guides of Europe recently by the long-legged and athletic United States senator from Arizona, Henry Fountain Ashurst.

Ashurst went abroad to see Europe, and see it he did. From early morn to dusky eve—and even later—Henry was on the go.

"I wore out two guides a day," Ashurst said. "And some days even three. But I had a good time. It was my first real vacation in 30 years."

Washington is wondering just what innovations in entertainment may be made should fate put William Gibbs McAdoo in the White House in 1924.

This because Mrs. McAdoo, who as Eleanor Wilson, second daughter of President Wilson, already has known the executive mansion as "home," has become an enthusiastic fight fan.

Mrs. McAdoo's first experience with the thrills of fistiana, it is said, resulted from witnessing some bouts put on in California to raise funds for charity. She attended because of the cause, but the sport—the first time. Later she was hostess at a bout put on between west coast amateurs at the Hollywood stadium and her voice deepest regret that circumstances prevented her witnessing the Dempsey-Pirip knock-down fest.

The busy bee has nothing on Secretary of Labor James J. Davis. What with running the department of labor, playing god-father to the Independent Order of Moose and otherwise meeting the responsibilities of his varied life, he has 24 hours made entirely too short a day in which to get all his work done.

Jimmy has recently been so busy that he couldn't find time to get to a barber shop. He managed to squeeze in a session with his safety razor most mornings—always on cabinet days—but his hair was out of the question. Reluctantly, however, his hair cut on sport.

At last, able to endure it no longer, he called a barber to the office. And as he clipped and snipped, the secretary dictated a few letters, listened to the reading of an important report and kept the governmental wheels spinning with never a moment's pause.

Before that date arrived the interstate commerce commission had served notice it would hear at that same time a rate case in which Sackett was interested. When the hour of his appointment arrived, Sackett could be found about the executive offices. Secretary Sloop had to locate him, while Coolidge momentarily postponed the first man he had over his head of who had forgotten a White House date.

PATRICK BOYLE RAISES CHAMPION CABBAGE

On exhibition in Patrick Boyle's store windows on Salem street today is a monster cabbage—weight exactly 22 pounds—a monstrous cabbage raised on the mellow Dracut land leased by Mr. Boyle and several friends, who like to spend Sundays and holidays out in the open and take it easy.

This cabbage is representative of about 20 cabbages raised on the leased land in Dracut this season by the grocer and several Lowell cronies of long-standing, who also enjoy these recreation jaunts and have learned how to plant seeds in furrows and show results.

No cabbage the size of Mr. Boyle's Dracut-raised vegetables was ever displayed in Lowell before, so far as he can find out. Certainly no rural fair tables during the past season have displayed anything like it in size, color, weight and full lines of growth.

The Boyle products came from a tiny package of seeds without name, but guaranteed to be cabbage seeds, issued to those whose names were on Congressman John Jacob Rogers' list as seed beneficiaries every year. Mr. Boyle received not only cabbage seeds from the congressman, but a collection of beet, parsnip, turnip and tomato seeds, none of which bore any trade names.

Mr. Boyle has five or six Lowell friends who always like to go out to the leased land on the shores of Long Pond, Dracut, and help him till the soil. Two years ago the land was a heavy, wet bog, with black, leamy mud two feet deep or more. Mr. Boyle, on his Sunday excursions to Dracut with his friends, tore off the scrub growth and burned them, performed a magnificent ditching operation without plans to go by, and this season the land was O. K. for real planting, with loam rich and deep and plenty of moisture to make things grow.

During the long, dry spell, when many Lowell and nearby market gardeners saw their crops wilt and die after long periods of sunshine and no showers, Mr. Boyle and his friends sat around and rosted during the summer vacation days and just watched that half-acre of cabbages, etc., spread itself.

Mr. Boyle admits that he never had much faith in government seeds, so-called, and he realizes that many farmers scorn the yearly gifts mailed to them by the department of agriculture. Rogers' active secretary, but just ask Patrick Boyle of Lowell and Long Pond what he thinks of those 1923 seeds that Mr. Rogers sent him and you will find a booster for the quality government offerings that will be hard to down.

Mr. Boyle hasn't any idea where the seeds came from originally or what their names might be. He only knows that the word "Champion" or "Gigantic" would be all right.

"And even if I were a member of the old Lowell Ward 1 democratic committee again and was to go back again driving that truck for my old and respected employer, the late John Lennon," remarked Patrick this morning, "I would still want to go out every Sunday afternoon in the summer months and keep that little half-acre of frisky muck land shining with the good things that I have been raising there ever since Sam Cole, Tom, Charlie and Jim, my pals, helped me work the odd sod to the limit."

WHOLESALE REORGANIZATION OF HARVARD FOOTBALL SYSTEM

STYLE OF PLAY ENTIRELY NEW TO HARVARD-PRINCETON FOOTBALL EXPECTED SATURDAY

Joe McGlone, Star Broken Field Runner and Triple Threat Man, Selected as First String Quarterback—New Offensive Weapons to Be Employed—To Sacrifice Deception for Speed

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press) A style of play entirely new to Harvard-Princeton football is expected in the opening contest of the Big Three series at Palmer Memorial Stadium.

In last Saturday's play against Tufts and in this week's practice sessions, two distinct departures from the tactical scheme long in vogue at Cambridge, have been noted by football students. These have led to much speculation as to the extent of the changes made in Harvard's system of football play.

The selection of Joe McGlone, a star broken field runner and triple threat man, as first string quarterback, and the fact that Harvard has been stressing practice in direct passing, are accepted by many as proof positive of wholesale reorganization of Harvard football.

As the Princeton game is the one toward which Harvard has been pointing, all season, criticism leveled by the Tigers is expected to encounter the full force of Harvard's new offensive weapons.

This prospect has served to increase the interest in the big three series. Here, as in the past, the Harvard team has been expected to play a more conservative football, the employment of the kicking game and a disposition to "wait for the breaks" has featured the series.

Each of the three coaching camps about their rivals, and so well schooled were the teams in specialized defense, that scoring opportunities materialized only through a series of brilliant plays, judiciously and much of the color.

That was to be found in other contests this season, the series.

Of the three teams Harvard has been the most conservative. The Princeton theory has been that 10 players direct from fatiguing and body by attempting to carry the ball and make interference were better than 11 players who were quick to make a more active part in the play.

It has been Harvard's theory also that deception was of greater value than speed. And in the change to the new style, it appears to have forsaken those theories, for it has added the quarterback to the carrying and interfering forces and in substituting direct for delayed passing it sacrifices deception for speed.

Princeton enthusiasts admit doubts as to the Tigers' ability to meet and check the reorganized attack, but accept the Tiger will show something equally new and difficult in Saturday's game.

Palmer Memorial Stadium will prove the big magnet of the coming week and in the New York-New Jersey football season, the thousands of football fans who will be in the Princeton grounds to see in action McGlone's new offensive weapons.

SEASON'S OPENING SHOW BY KENNEL CLUB

All-breed canines of the home-bred, 12-months-or-under classes of high and medium degrees, some of national reputation and others practically newcomers in the world of many canines of real class, trotted gaily up the stairways to Griffin hall, Merriam street, early last evening, to compete for pink first ribbons in the opening competitions of the season's elaborate program arranged by the thriving Lowell kennel club.

More than 70 infant class canines of various breeds, sizes and quality occupied the attention of several hundred enthusiastic dog fanciers, and owners from $20 until nearly midnight, a member only all-breed show and competition that proved genuinely interesting from first call to final ribbon allotment.

Pink ribbons went to first winners, white ribbons to second best and green colors to the third in line. The judges were, and 1st awards in most cases released the spectators.

President Frederick G. Humphries, starting his second year as leader of the Lowell kennel club, reported a 1922 members' roll of 200 and more coming. Mr. Humphries judged one class—the English toy and had an easy time with but one entrant to inspect and approve. The other judges showed intelligence in decisions were:

Fred Williams, wire-haired terriers; Miss May Russell, English and French bulldogs; George W. Foster, terriers; Richard Murphy, Alsatians; Fred Bassett, sporting dogs.

In the prize offerings for the judges' inspection during the evening, three bane canines of the French bull line, Boston terriers, Alsatians, wire-haired terriers, setters, pointers, one Belgian police puppy, English toy spaniels, black and tan and a few Scotch collies.

President Humphries announced that at the next meeting of the club in two weeks he will deliver the first of a series of talks of interest to lovers of canines. Admission to these talks will be free to the public. He hopes to create more active interest in the production and display of fancy canines of the blue winning kind.

Several more ribbon shows will be held during the coming season.

HARKINS OUT OF POLO BRENNAN KNOCKED OUT, THEN SUSPENDED

Player Who Brought Three Championships to Lowell Retires From Game

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 8.—Bill Brennan, New York heavyweight, who was knocked out by Billy Miske of St. Paul, Minn., in the fourth round of their scheduled 10 round fight here last night, last evening was suspended since the Nebraska state boxing commission, Harry Summers of Los Angeles, withdrew, who was knocked out by Miske in the fourth round of their fight.

Turners of both the fighters, said to be in excess of $2500 are being held up by the commission and probably will be given to charity, State Boxing Commissioner William Haven said.

Leo P. Flynn, manager of the New York boxer, was blamed for the poor showing of Brennan, who, according to Brennan, started the attack, but was soon in a clinch with Miske, who was fighting hard. Brennan was on the floor when the bell rang, being saved from a knockout.

At the opening of the fourth round, Brennan returned grumpy and Miske struck put two blows, sending him to the canvas for the count.

When he regained consciousness, Brennan accused the referee of holding his hand while Miske struck him. Summers was knocked out in less than half a minute after the fight started. Sarazen of the Lone Star State

HARRY COOPER

By N. E. A. Service
DALLAS, Nov. 8.—It is not likely that the high-voltage golf pros from the east—the Hagens, the Sarazens and the Kirkwoods—who annually tour the south and the southwest in the winter, chasing elusive cash prizes, will have everything their own way when the season opens.

Standing out as a defensive bulwark is one Harry Cooper, 19-year-old son of a local professional, called by experts the most promising young professional that has come to golf since the initial appearance of Sarazen, who became the nation's champion at 21.

Cooper, built somewhat like Sarazen, and a player after the little Italian's style—a free, fierce hitter off the tee and a hold player to the green—has been breaking course records in countless quarters all year.

Over the long, difficult Brook Hollow club course young Cooper shot a 72 the first time he saw it. His 69 stood for a long time as the best ever made at Cedar Crest. His 35 over the nine-hole Sherman course has never been beaten. Over a course of similar length at Waxahatchee he scored an amazing 32. At Longview, a tricky nine-hole, he registered a 34. His 66 over the Dallas municipal course continues to defy the best efforts of some of the game's finest golfers.

Cooper was the Lone Star state's entry in the professional match play championship at Pelham Bay this fall. Cooper broke par for the course by two strokes, advanced to the second round, and bowed to the fine golf of Cyril Walker after a tumultuous tussle. These performances are sufficient to show that the youngster is a genuine comer.

Cooper, playing the game since a mere tot, has had the benefit of a sound and expert instruction from his dad, Syd Cooper, a golfing product of the old country. The senior Cooper was somewhat of a star himself in England.

"My boy Harry is much better than I ever was. I believe he will be a champion."

Saying which, the elder Cooper hastens to assure you that he speaks as a professional and not as a father.

The Question

A is the offensive team in possession of the ball while B is the defensive team. On the first down one of the halfbacks on team A goes through the line for a gain of about five yards but when tackled fumbles the ball. The quarterback on the B team tries to recover the ball while it is in the air, but is unable to retain possession of the ball as it eludes his grasp after he has fumbled it several times. Another player on the A team which originally had the ball, regains possession and is downed seven yards in advance of where the play started. This play caused a serious dispute as to what down it was when a player on the A team secured possession of the ball seven yards in advance of where the play started. The referee ruled second down and three yards to gain. The A team argued that it was first down, since the ball passed into the possession of the B team after a fumble by the A team, only to have the A team recover the ball on a fumble.

The Answer

The referee was correct in his ruling that it was second down and three yards to gain, since the ball had been advanced seven yards from where the play started and was in the possession of the A team that started the play. In order to have been first down, the ball must have passed into actual possession and control of the B team and then have been fumbled and regained by a player on the A team. The rules committee holds that a player merely juggling the ball does not have control of it. Hence when an offensive player fumbled the ball and a defensive player merely juggled it in an effort to gain possession, only to have an A player recover it after the double fumble, it is simply treated as a first down and a seven-yard gain.

"CHANGE OF PACE" IS
ROCKNE'S SYSTEM

BY BILLY EVANS

In baseball it's the manager who shifts his style of play that gets results.

No longer is the old army game, a baseball term used in reference to a team that uses the "sacrifice" constantly with a runner on first in an effort to tip over a run.

One run doesn't mean much in these days of the lively ball. In an air-tight pitching duel, the proper play is to try for a run, but pitchers' battles are the exception. The dangerous team is the club that mixes them up.

The same principle holds good for a winning pitcher. Once upon a time a fast ball alone was enough to be a big winner, but those days are past. The pitcher must mix 'em up, have a change of pace.

Works Both Ways

What holds good for baseball is equally true in modern football. Open play is to the aridiron what the lively ball is to the diamond.

All of which brings us up to the vital question, the reason for the remarkable success of the Notre Dame eleven. On successive Saturdays Notre Dame overwhelmed three of the strongest teams in the country, West Point, Princeton and Georgia Tech.

Why the remarkable success of Notre Dame? Of course, one must mention Coach Knute Rockne, master strategist of the gridiron. He is the so-called "master mind."

Must Have Talent

In the last world series it was proved the "master mind" meant nothing if lacking the talent to carry out instructions. Fortunately for Rockne he has the very men in his football squad needed to exploit his system to the highest degree.

Notre Dame mixes them up. Against the Army Notre Dame worked the forward pass overtime. Princeton prepared for such a game and Notre Dame shifted to a running attack. Against Princeton Notre Dame gained 220 yards by rushing, only 41 yards by forward passing.

Notre Dame's great success is due to a combination of the forward pass and the running game. The pass constantly acts as a threat and offers a mask to an end run or an off-balance play, often better offensive weapons than the pass.

Ever since the adoption of the pass Rockne has always been able to visualize, see the possibilities of the play far in advance of most coaches. To use a baseball term the Notre Dame eleven has a change of pace that is most deceptive and disconcerting. The opposition never knows what is coming next.

Rockne has the winning system. His great backfield, Stuhldreher, Layden, Crowley, Miller and Bergman, aided by fast moving forwards are able to carry the Rockne system to a successful completion. A great coach plus a great team tells the story of Notre Dame.

ZEV ENTERED IN PIMLICO RACE

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Nov. 8.—"Old Billie" patrons will be given an opportunity this afternoon to see Zev, Harry F. Sinclair's crack three-year-old in action. Zev is entered in the Pimlico serial No. 2, $1000 added, at a mile and one furlong. It will be his first appearance since his defeat by In Memoriam to the Latonia championship.

Opposed to Zev are Tryster, Hephalsors, General Thatcher and Home Stretch. The race is a weight-for-age affair. Zev is a heavy favorite, especially as the track is muddy.

TO PLAY IN LAWRENCE

On next Sunday the Belvidere team will journey to Lawrence and play the strong Tremont aggregation of that city at O'Sullivan park. The Tremonts defeated the O.M.I. Cadets last Sunday. The Belvidere team has one of the strongest lineups in the state and is ready to meet any of the so-called "Champs" at any time. They wish the Cadets would play them and settle the question, as to which is the better team.

The following Belvidere football players will meet at the high school annex at 7:15: Desmond, Parosette, Normandin, F. Bernier, Lussell, Gleason, Ruer, White, Kempson, Eagan, T. Bernier, Hill, Pope, Burt and Leugh.

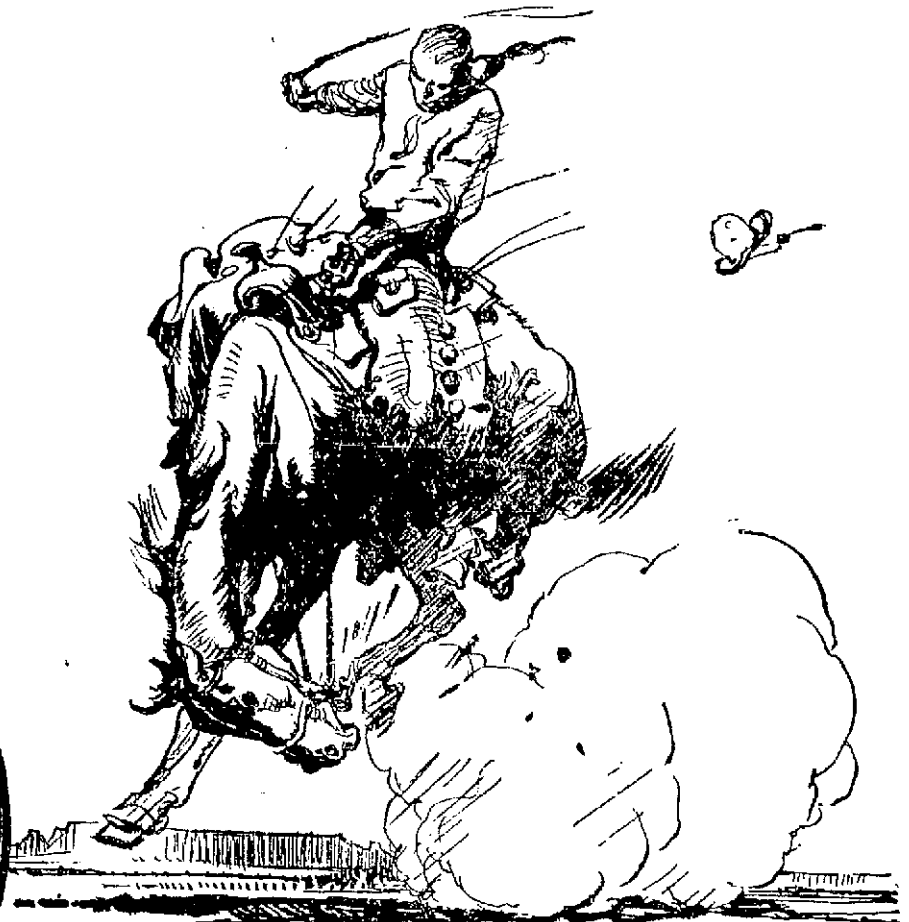

FOOTBALL GAME CANCELLED

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The scheduled trip of the Great Lakes eleven to Newport to play Newport sailors on Saturday in the first game to decide the naval training championship of the United States, has been cancelled because of the trip involved. Instead, Hampton Roads will play Newport Saturday and the winner will play Great Lakes in Chicago or at Great Lakes, Ill., Thanksgiving day.

Ride 'im Cowboy!

by the Veteran Motorist

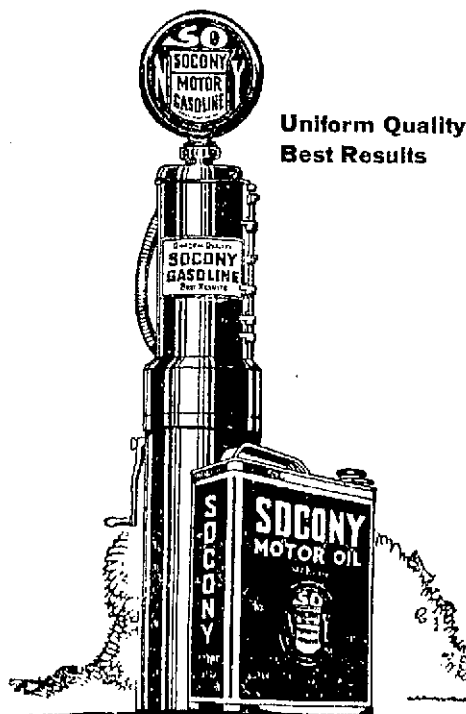

"LAST August a friend of mine persuaded me to go up to Tex Austin's Rodeo, in the Yankee Stadium, and for the first time in my effete Eastern existence, I saw honest-to-goodness cowboys and girls ride those bucking, sun-fishing bronchos—and I took my hat off to them in admiration.

"To watch the rider stick to that animated, whirling up-and-down animal was a wonderful example of human strength and intelligence pitted against brute force.

"I thought at the time how a great many motorists who use 'hootleg' gas are like an inexperienced rider trying to ride a bucking broncho. They are always 'thrown' in the long run (and sometimes the quality of the gas they use makes even a staid automobile jump and flutter like a wild horse!)

HOTEL MAN TESTIFIES AT CORCORAN TRIAL

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Ernest R. Sprack, manager of the Copley Square hotel in this city, was a witness today in the trial of William J. Spracklin testified that a man named Curtis was at the hotel in July, 1915, occupying a suite of three rooms. He said he did not know Curtis' first name or where he came from. He thought Curtis' wife was with him. He said he went to the suite and asked Curtis, who was having a party in the dining room, to keep quiet because of complaints of adjoining rooms were made on account of the noise. There were five

Ten New Regular Police Officers Appointed by Superintendent Atkinson

Supt. Thomas R. Atkinson today appointed 10 new regular police officers as follows:

Andrew H. Cushing, 53 Crawford st.
James P. Morrison, 342 Westford st.
Joseph F. Cryan, 84 Bridge st.
Paul M. Spillane, 25 Waugh st.
Edward J. Linton, 96 Fort Hill ave.
William F. McBride, 32 Andrews st.
Thomas J. Nelson, 4 Agawam st.
Daniel P. Brennan, 775 Broadway.
William J. Furey, 95 Boston road.

Their appointment is the direct result of a meeting held yesterday by the city council committee on public safety, with Mayor John T. Donovan and the police chief. At that time previous requests for additional patrolmen were reiterated and the appointment of 10 confirmed and approved after the city auditor had assured the councilors that the police department appropriation for the present year will be adequate to meet the additional charges.

In addition to the appointment of the above-named officers as regulars, the superintendent will request the civil service commission for permission to appoint as many men from the eligible list to the supernumerary or reserve list as possible. This number will be 12 or 13, depending upon the total number of reserve officers allowed in relation to a regular department now numbering 148 patrolmen.

Supt. Atkinson will not assign the new officers to regular routes at once, but assignments will be made as soon as possible and beats now open will be filled.

Of the men made regulars today, three of them, Cushing, Morrison and Cryan, have been reserve officers since July, 1919; Spillane, and Furey were made reserve patrolmen in October, 1919, and Linton in December of that year. McBride, Nelson and Brennan became supernumeraries in September of 1921 and Furey in November of that year.

MME. PAVLOVA PLEASES IN FINE PROGRAM

Mme. Anna Pavlova and her Russian ballet appeared at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium last evening in a delightful and highly colored program of dances that charmed the eye and showed new possibilities in the art of rhythmic interpretation. Pavlova gained world renown several years ago, but her grace and beauty still stand out supreme among the ballet artists of all time.

On her present American tour, Pavlova has as a principal partner, Laurent Novikoff, a dancer of remarkable ability, and her ballet is composed of 10 girls and eight men, each a soloist of marked accomplishments. A symphony orchestra, conducted by Theodore Stier, furnished music for the program that is perfectly in tune with the ideas being interpreted.

Standing out above all else in a program which contained many good things was Pavlova's dance, "The result of a tremendous amount of painstaking preparation, for despite the intricacies of the evolutions, there was always evident perfect symphony of motion. Its movements, costumes and portent were obtained first hand in Egypt by Mme. Pavlova from carvings and traditions in monuments and museums of Cairo and Alexandria, as well as from native living dancers studied by her during her recent visit there."

The second and third parts of the program were in the nature of diversions, introducing solo dances and others in which two, three, four and sometimes more members of the company participated. Each number won recognition in its own right and each had much to do with the success attained by the entire company.
"The audience was of fairly good size numerically, the only apparent emptiness being on the floor where there were many empty chairs. The parquet and balcony were well filled."
